Red Leaders Seen Opening "Era Of Talk"

Observers Believe Major Concessions By Russia Unlikely

By STANLEY JOHNSON

GENEVA, July 19 (AP)—Soviet Premier Bulganin and his top Kremlin cohorts have set out to charm the West into a lengthy "era of conferences," experienced Western observers believe.

The aim, those holding this view say, is to keep the world busy talking while Soviet leaders take a breathing spell to put Russia's internal economy in order.

By cutting out vituperative language and emphasizing a spirit of friendliness, some diplomats believe, the Russians can achieve a relaxation of international tension without giving an inch on such problems as the reunification of Germany or a foolproof system of international atomic inspection.

Preconditions Fulfilled

As they have publicly stated, Western leaders are determined to explore how far the Soviet leaders actually want to go in solving outstanding problems of the cold war.

They noted that Premier Bulganin has fulfilled two preconditions which President Eisenhower laid down some two years ago for serious negotiations — the signing of an Austrian independence treaty and the promise of a Soviet contribution to the "atom pool."

Western experts studied Bulganin's opening speech to the Big Four with these points in mind. They sought to determine where he left himself room for modifying his positions without leaving himself open to a charge of yielding to Western pressure.

Cordial Relations Stressed

He didn't want to discuss the future of the countries of Eastern Europe and the work of international communism. But the Soviet views on Germany, European security and disarmament, while different from the West's, were not presented on a take it or leave it basis.

Russian delegation members, buttonholing Western reporters to-day, said that under the Russian plan there "wouldn't be any radical changes" in Europe. This, of course, referred to the first part of their two-stage security plan and ignored the fact that the second half called for the dissolution of NATO.

Moreover, Soviet spokesmen have gone out of their way to stress the cordial relationships between Eisenhower and their chief delegates.

Minimum Pay Vote Set Today

WASHINGTON, July 19 (AP)—House leaders tonight put off until tomorrow a final vote on minimum wage legislation as Democrats conceded they faced tough opposition to an immediate increase from 75 cents to $1 an hour.

The decision to delay final voting until tomorrow was reached after three hours of sharp debate, during which Southern Democrats and Republicans teamed up in support of President Eisenhower's request for no more than 90 cents.

Rep. Kelley (D-Pa.), Democratic floor manager of the bill, told newsmen he thought the House would approve the $1 figure when the final showdown comes.

But he said there was strong support for a three-year graduated boost proposed by some Republicans as a form of compromise.

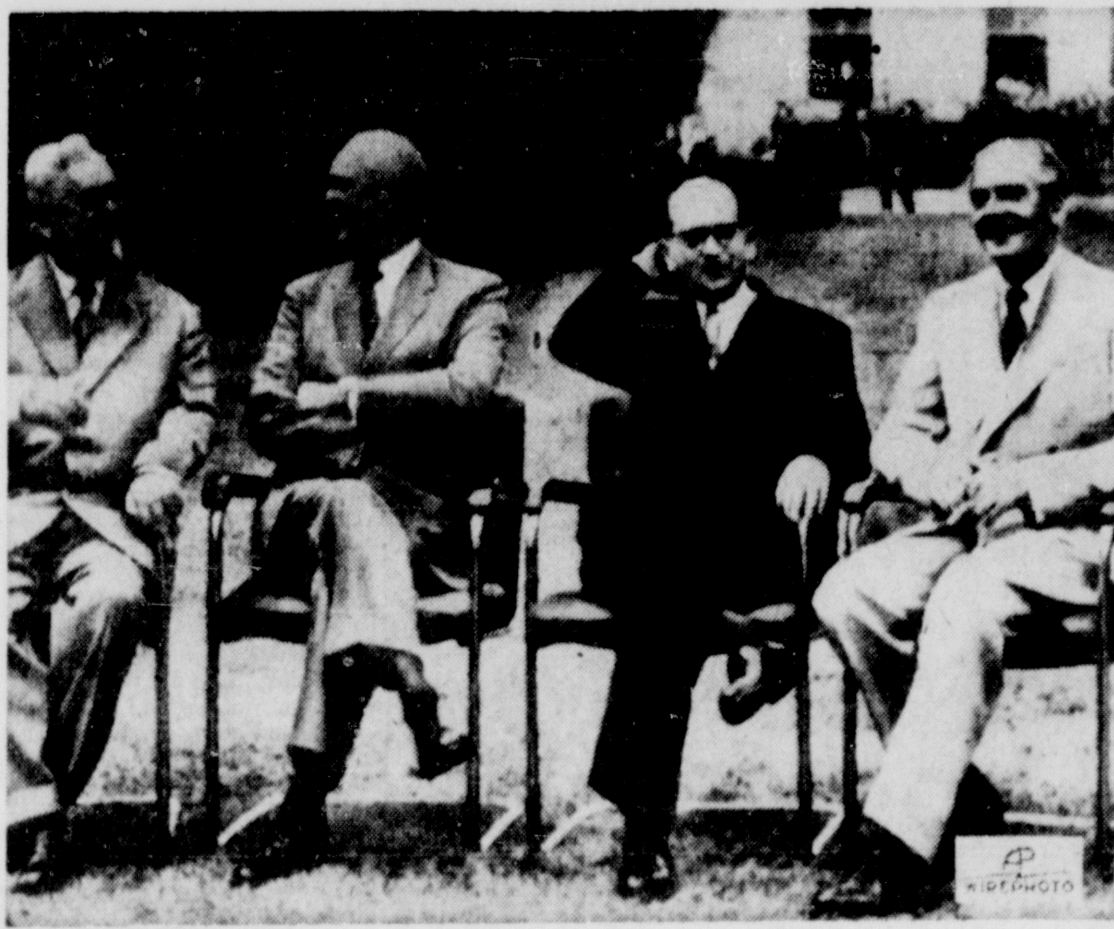

The proposal calls for an increase to 90 cents the first year, 95 cents the second year, and $1 the third year and thereafter.

Transit Action Asked

WASHINGTON, July 19 (AP)—Rep. Hyde (R-Md.) asked Congress today to repeal the franchise of the Capital Transit Co., and grant the commissioners of the District of Columbia authority to take possession of the company's property.

Pair Killed, Two Survive Mid-Air Plane Collision

HIGH POINT, Md., July 19 (AP)—Two planes from Bolling Air Force Base in Washington sideswiped 3,000 feet over High Point today and two fliers were killed when one of the ships crashed and exploded.

Two other pilots managed to nurse their crippled B25 about 10 miles to the edge of Baltimore's Friendship International Airport and came through a crash landing with only minor hurts.

The B25 gouged into a house about 1,000 yards off the end of a Friendship runway but the woman and two children inside were only shaken up.

C45 Falls Near School
The other plane, a C45 twin-engine passenger ship, plummeted into a clump of trees near High Point school and burst into flames.

Hours after the collision officials at Bolling base said it was "being assumed" the unidentified plane in the High Point accident was a C45 long overdue at Bolling.

The fortunate pair who escaped from the B25 wreckage were Maj. Leonard H. Bonham of San Jose, Calif., stationed at Bolling, and Maj. W. T. Phillips of Florence, Ala., assigned to Air Force headquarters at the Pentagon.

A Bolling Air Base official said the other plane carried two men whose names would be announced after the next of kin were notified.

Plane Badly Wrecked
The spokesman said the plane was so badly wrecked it could not be identified immediately as the overdue Bolling plane. This ship was on an instrument testing flight, the spokesman said.

The Air Force Research and Development Command in Baltimore said both were from Bolling. The two planes apparently sideswiped right over High Point's school for some wing wreckage was found on the school grounds.

High Point is a small community on one of the fingers of Chesapeake Bay about 12 miles below Baltimore.

Baby Given Oil Of Wintergreen By Sister, 3, Dies

BALTIMORE, July 19 (AP)—Eleven-month-old Vanessa Green died at a hospital early today after her three-year-old sister, who was trying to be helpful, gave her some oil of wintergreen by mistake.

The police report said the older child heard the baby crying and decided to give her a drink of water. She got the wrong bottle, put a nipple on it, and fed it to the baby.

Ban On $1 Year Men Rejected

WASHINGTON, July 19 (AP)—The Senate beat down today a Democratic-sponsored move to bar "dollar-a-year" men from high defense mobilization posts.

Only an hour earlier, the House Banking Committee had approved a proposal to put rigid restrictions on employment of "dollar-a-year" men — so called because they hold federal jobs without government compensation while receiving their pay from private industry.

The Senate Republican forces were victorious by a single vote 46-45 in striking down a bill extending the Defense Production Act for two years a section banning "dollar-a-year" men from serving in federal administrative and policymaking jobs.

The approved amendment provides that such appointees "shall, when policy matters are involved, be limited to advising government officials who are responsible for making policy decisions."

After adopting the amendment, offered by Sen. Capehart (R-Ind.), the Senate passed the bill by voice vote.

Committee Approves Folsom Nomination

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Finance Committee today approved President Eisenhower's nomination of Marion B. Folsom to be secretary of health, education and welfare, succeeding Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby.

Cap Maker Lev Testifies Probe Has Ruined Him

WASHINGTON, July 19 (AP)—Harry Lev, Chicago cap maker to the U.S. armed forces, testified today a Senate investigation of his business deals has ruined him. "I am no more a millionaire," he said.

Lev made this financial report to the Senate Investigations subcommittee after it had heard a former Army inspector swear that Lev tried to bribe him repeatedly. The subcommittee also received a deathbed statement in which an ex-employee of Lev declared the cap maker became a millionaire "on taxpayers' money."

Lev Denies Paying Bribes
The balding Chicago manufacturer listened to the evidence with his head in his hands. From time to time he shook his head unhappily.

When his turn came to testify, Lev said "I definitely deny of (sic) any bribes whatsoever."

He attempted to give the subcommittee an accounting of more than $200,000 in cash he acknowledged had passed through his hands in 1952 and 1953. What he hoped to prove, he said, was that "not a broken cent" of it was used to bribe anybody.

But his memory still failed him about what he did with $10,000 in cash he withdrew from a Chicago bank June 27, 1953, four days before he is alleged to have used $5,000 of it to bribe Air Force Capt. Raymond Wool. Wool is facing a court-martial on charges growing out of his association with Lev while a military procurement officer.

Lev testified he also cannot remember what he did with another $10,000 in cash he withdrew the following July 10 — a day after procurement officers had approved a controversial feature of his contract to make two million white sailor caps.

Michael Weinkraus of New York, the former inspector, told the investigators Lev "tried to bribe me many times" while he was stationed at Lev's Mid-City Uniform Co. in Chicago from March to June 1952.

Family Reunion In Traffic Court

DETROIT, July 19 (AP)—The Card family had a little reunion today in Traffic Court.

Preston Card was stopped for erratic driving. Police found he was wanted for an overdue jaywalking ticket.

When Card's brother, Frank, looked innocently out the window, police checked his record, too, and found there were three warrants for him on traffic tickets.

Then, at police headquarters, up drove a third brother, Eugene, to post bond for the other two. Officers asked for his driver's license. He had none.

"You should be ashamed," said Judge George Murphy. "We must have just about your whole family in here today."

"Oh, no, judge," said Eugene. "There are 15 more of us."

Aid Fund Cuts Are Restored By Senate Unit

WASHINGTON, July 19 (AP)—The Senate Appropriations Committee today voted to restore $565,600,000 of the $627,900,000 cut by the House from President Eisenhower's foreign aid bill.

The restorations, most of them made by a heavy vote, represented an important victory for the President on one of the key bills in his 1955 program.

The bill as reported out of the Senate Committee carried $3,204,341,750 for assistance to this country's friends throughout the world in the fiscal year which began July 1.

This compares with $3,266,641,750 asked by Eisenhower and $2,638,741,750 voted by the House.

Floor Action Thursday

The bill is to be taken up on the Senate floor Thursday. In view of the strong committee vote to knock out most of the House cuts, the administration's chances of holding the restorations on the floor appeared to be good.

Earlier, several senators had reported privately on restorations votes by the committee.

These were the restorations made by the Senate committee: World wide military assistance—420 million dollars. This was the major House cut. The vote to restore the money was 14 to 7.

Other Restorations

Defense support for Asian nations—$52,800,000.

President Eisenhower's special fund for Asian development—$50 million. This gave him three-fourths of the 200 million he asked. The House had voted 100 million. Direct forces support — $12,200,000.

Technical cooperation or point four aid—$5 million.

Intergovernmental committee for European migration—$2,500,000.

United Nations relief and works agency—4 million.

Ocean freight charges for surplus agricultural commodities—3 million.

Balloon Soars To 121,000 Feet

MINNEAPOLIS, July 19 (AP)—A huge plastic research balloon released from a South St. Paul airfield soared to a world's record altitude of 121,000 feet, it was revealed today.

Otto C. Winzen, president of Winzen Research Inc., which launched the balloon yesterday, said its ascent exceeded by 4,000 feet the previous record set by a General Mills research balloon last year.

The Winzen launching was part of an Air Force project carried out by the Aero-Medical Field Laboratory of the Holloman Air Development Center in New Mexico.

Research instruments carried by the helium-filled balloon dropped to earth by parachute near Isabelle, S. D., more than 500 miles from the launching site. They were recovered by Winzen crew members who had been tracking the balloon's progress by plane.

Big Roads Bill Is Reapproved By House Unit

WASHINGTON, July 19 (AP)—The House Public Works Committee today reapproved a huge highway construction bill 17-9 after making it a little easier on users of diesel fuel and the camelback material employed in retreading tires.

However, the committee voted to have the new rates on these and other highway user taxes, including gasoline, run nearly 16 years instead of the 15 years provided for when the bill was first approved Friday.

The net effect was figured by the committee to add about 400 million more dollars in the 16 years running until the middle of 1971.

The highway user tax increases would bring in about $12,400,000, 000 additional in the 16 years, to apply toward a total construction expenditure of 48½ billion dollars in the next 12 years. The main change is a boost in the federal gasoline tax from the present 2 cents a gallon to 3 cents.

On the basis of today's changes, the tax on diesel fuel would be 4 cents a gallon, as against the present 2 cents. It was proposed Friday to make it 5 cents. Also, the 15-cent-a-gallon new tax to be imposed on camelback would be limited to that used by large cars and trucks. It had been proposed to apply to all sizes.

Another last-minute committee change would exempt, from most of the tax increases, transit companies who have 75 per cent of their traffic within city limits. These firms would still have to pay the planned stepup of from 8 to 10 per cent in the manufacturers' excise on buses and trucks.

25-Warship Hunt Locates Woman

SAN DIEGO, Calif., July 19 (AP)—An alarm was sounded, throughout 25 ships of the U. S. Navy here today.

The shrill of bosun's pipes and the blare of loud speakers passing the word startled every man from admiral to cook.

"There's a woman aboard," blared the speakers.

Every one of the estimated 5,000 sailors on the 25 ships was routed to quarters to prove that he wasn't she.

She was finally located, after about an hour's scurry and search, in a steel locker back of the after smoke stack on the U. S. destroyer Hollister.

Turned over to police at the Navy landing, she identified herself as Betty D. Talk, 24, and was quoted by Patrolman Glen N. A. Lebus as saying: "I got drunk and slipped aboard."

Bow To Threats Of "Showdown"

CARSON CITY, Nev., July 19 (AP)—Weary, hungry Nevada State Prison convicts gave up their abortive 26-hour bloodless rebellion to-night in the face of threats that patrolmen guarding the prison walls were "preparing for a showdown."

The convicts gave up five minutes after Warden Art Bernard warned the 200-odd striking prisoners that 25 heavily armed members of the Nevada State Patrol ringed the walls of the open yard "are getting tired and won't wait much longer."

A reply came that the prisoners were ready to return to the cells they hadn't seen since Monday afternoon when they refused to budge from the recreation yard, demanding more privileges and better chances for parole.

Guards Search Returns
Tired from hours under the broiling 95 degree sun, the convicts moved slowly into their cell blocks. Guards searched each one. The last inmate walked into his cell at 7 p.m.

"The men don't want anything. They are tired and sick," a three-man committee of prisoners told the warden after he had issued his ultimatum.

Bernard ordered the convicts fed about 8 p.m. — 32 hours after their last meal which was at noon yesterday. He said he had not decided what steps would be taken against the ring leaders.

"I'm going to sleep now," he said. Except for a couple of hours early today, he had been in his office constantly since yesterday morning.

Weaker Convicts Quit Earlier
Two hours before the rebellion collapsed, the prisoners had allowed 18 elderly and sick convicts to return to their cells.

The others, hungry and sullen remained in the yard.

Among those returning to the cell block and their first meal in 30 hours was Tony Jackson, 88, Hawthorne, Nev., murderer.

The rebellion had settled into a tense waiting game between the convicts and Bernard early today and neither side had made a move until 4 p. m., when the weaker prisoners were allowed to move out.

West Attack Unthinkable, Soviets Told

Pleds For Unified Germany Tied To Atlantic Alliance

By PRESTON GROVER

GENEVA, July 19 (AP)—Summoning Marshal Georgi Zhukov, to witness his truthfulness, President Eisenhower gave Soviet leaders a personal pledge today that the Western alliance will never attack Russia. He appealed to them to permit a unified Germany defensively allied with the West.

But Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin firmly rejected German unification on that basis.

The debate in this afternoon's session of the summit conference left little doubt the unification issue is tightly deadlocked between Russia and the Western powers.

Bulganin made clear that a divorcing of Germany from the Western European Union and the Atlantic alliance is Russia's price for uniting the country.

The President's appeal was described by officials present as the most moving and emotional talk in the conference to date.

The President said he wanted to talk about the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the purposes of this collective security arrangement. He asked Zhukov to listen carefully, explaining he made this request because they are old friends.

One Soldier To Another
Then he said Zhukov knows that, on the basis of one soldier speaking to another, the President has never spoken a single word which is not true. He asked the Russians to accept his word as a soldier that the United States would never be a party to aggression, and that Russia had nothing to fear from NATO.

Zhukov, allied with Eisenhower in Germany at the close of World War II, sat attentively as the President spoke. When Bulganin replied later his words were cordial. But the exchange of views seemed not to dent the hard reality of Big Four differences over Germany's future.

Germany is topic No. 1 on the agenda for the summit meeting. However, it is only one of many issues before the conference and Western diplomats tonight were somewhat optimistic. Some thought that in the end a little progress might be made on Germany, at least in creating greater understanding among the powers here.

West Urges Early Action
At today's session, British Prime Minister Eden and French Premier Faure launched the Western argument for ending Germany's East-West division. They said early action was urgent and essential. They argued against Bulganin's opening position yesterday that other countries — meaning Germany's link with NATO — had to change first.

Faure, as chairman of today's session, spoke first, then Eden. Eisenhower, speaking third, said he wanted to talk about uniting Germany from the point of view of the concept and purposes of NATO. He recalled that European (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Dixon-Yates Probe Bid Goes To Adams

Sen. Kefauver Invites Ike Aide To Testify

WASHINGTON, July 19 (AP)—Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) today invited presidential aide Sherman Adams to "testify fully" in the senator's investigation of the Dixon-Yates power contract.

Specifically, Kefauver said he wanted to know about any conferences in which Adams participated, bearing on a suspension in hearings held by the Securities and Exchange Commission on Dixon-Yates financing.

Chairman J. Sinclair Armstrong of the SEC at first refused to tell Kefauver's Antimonopoly subcommittee last week whether the White House had a hand in the commission's suspension of its hearings. Later, Armstrong came back and said the delay was ordered at the suggestion of Adams.

Kefauver is digging into all angles he can find in the Dixon-Yates contract, a transaction by which the private utility group would sell power to the Atomic Energy Commission, for use in lines of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

President Eisenhower ordered the contract negotiated, then ordered it cancelled after the city of Memphis said it would build its own plant rather than use Dixon-Yates electricity.

Kefauver and other advocates of public power have contended for more than a year that the Dixon-Yates plan was a scheme to undermine the big TVA public power project in favor of private utilities. The administration denies any attempt to kill TVA.

In asking Adams to testify, Kefauver noted that Armstrong's refusal to discuss details of White House telephone calls was based on the grounds that this was based under a presidential order that intra-agency and intra-office communications need not be disclosed.

However, the senator said the subcommittee believed that any conferences, or representations made to a quasi-judicial body such as the SEC, in its consideration of a case, "are not privileged . . . and therefore should be fully disclosed."

Kefauver has implied that the suspension in the SEC hearings may have been intended to prevent some financial disclosures that could have hurt the Dixon-Yates project in Congress.

Rejected Suitor Halts Walkathon

LONDON, July 19 (AP)—Ronnie Hill, 31, the jilted suitor, today gave up his walkathon.

He slipped into seclusion quietly without disclosing whether he went to nurse his heartache—or love had won.

The girl in the case, pretty Sally Willingdale, wasn't talking either.

Hill, a clerk, began his walkathon yesterday in front of Sally's house—hoping of walking his way back into her affections.

"I intend to keep walking until she changes her mind about me," he said.

Ronnie was cheered by sympathetic neighbors in the East London district—but Sally's father called him "silly."

Post-Inoculation Cases Of Polio Increase To 209

WASHINGTON, July 19 (AP)—The Public Health Service said today there were 209 cases of polio through July 13 among persons who had been given Salk antipolio vaccine. It also listed 202 polio cases among persons who had contact with vaccinated persons.

A spokesman said there had been 126 paralytic and 83 non-paralytic cases confirmed among vaccinated persons and 155 paralytic and 47 nonparalytic confirmed as contact cases.

Inoculations with the vaccine started shortly after it was licensed April 12.

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis said that about 6½ million children had received their first shots under its free program for first and second graders. It said enough vaccine had been shipped to give second shots to about 2½ million of the children, but it did not have figures on how many actually had received them.

The Public Health Service has said repeatedly there is no conclusive evidence that use of the vaccine caused the disease.

Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele also has said, however, that there was "strong presumptive evidence that there was a cause and effect relationship" between 56 paralytic cases which followed inoculation with vaccine made by Cutter Laboratories, Berkeley, Calif., and the use of two lots of that company's product which was released prior to April 27.

An investigation of what is now referred to as the Cutter incident is still under way.

The states reported 3,054 confirmed and unconfirmed cases of polio between about April 1 and July 9. This total included the confirmed post-vaccination and contact cases.

These two papers, along with the trade union organ Trud and the Young Communists' mouthpiece, Komsomolskaya Pravda, all published two-column front page editorials calling for peace on earth as a result of the Geneva meeting.

The Pravda and Izvestia correspondents waxed chatty, passing on such anecdotes as this: "The story made the rounds of news correspondents here Monday."

There were reports the extra officers were assigned to prevent a possible outbreak of numbers game violence.

Frank (Screw) Andrews, 44, cafe manager, said he shot Clark in self defense. He was ordered held for grand jury action on a murder charge. His bond was set at $10,000.

Police Chief George Gugel said Andrews showed a nick on the left knee, which he thought was caused by one of Clark's bullets.

Andrews said he met Clark in a private parking lot and Clark called him a dirty name and started firing. Andrews said he grabbed his gun from his car and returned the fire.

Soviet Press Exudes Rosy Glow Over Summit Parley

MOSCOW, July 19 (AP)—The Soviet press today exuded a rosy glow about the Geneva conference, only slightly dimmed by not-so-rosy remarks on inside pages.

Pravda and Izvestia, the Communist party and Soviet government organs respectively, each added two pages to their usual daily four so they could publish, with equal space, the speeches of the Big Four leaders opening the summit conference.

The joint Mikoyan-Ho statement said the two countries "resolutely denounce attempts at including South Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia (the Associated States of Indochina) in the zone of action of the aggressive military bloc in the Southeast Asia."

The jarring note turned up on page 2, where correspondents could read into a joint statement of A. I. Mikoyan, a first deputy premier, and President Ho Chi Minh of North Viet Nam some remarks that looked anti-American.

The statement was signed at a meeting Monday night.

The joint Mikoyan-Ho statement said the two countries "resolutely denounce attempts at including South Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia (the Associated States of Indochina) in the zone of action of the aggressive military bloc in the Southeast Asia."

Butler To Press For New Judge

BALTIMORE, July 19 (AP)—Sen. Butler (R-Md.) announced today he will ask President Eisenhower to fill a Federal Court vacancy in Baltimore as soon as possible and said 16 months is too long to wait for Rep. Miller (R-Md.) to become eligible for it.

Maryland's other Senator, also a Republican, Glenn Beall, said he still is pledged to Miller who represents the Eastern Shore. Miller said he was "disappointed that Sen. Butler made his statement at this particular time."

Miller was supposed to be in line for a federal judgeship two years ago, but he was persuaded to run for Congress again by the Republican leadership who feared anyone else would lose to the Democrats.

Since then, Congress voted pay increases for the federal judges which made Rep. Miller ineligible for any of the appointments until his term expires in January, 1957.

"The Department of Justice is unwilling to postpone the filling of the vacancy for 16 months," Sen. Butler said in announcing he will press for a prompt appointment.

Soviets Enjoy Their First Home-Cooked Iowa Meal

WASHINGTON, Iowa, July 19 (AP)—The 12 Soviet farm leaders had their first home-cooked Iowa meal today.

They liked it. Their host was Marie Hora, an attractive Iowa farm wife. She served them fried chicken, mashed potatoes, corn, salad and three kinds of pie.

When asked how she liked her Soviet guests, Mrs. Hora replied: "They were nice."

"What do you think of Iowa cooking now?" I asked a Soviet delegation leader, Vladimir Matkevich.

"I proved what I thought of Mrs. Hora's food in deeds, not words," he declared, patting his tummy with satisfaction.

"It was good!" When they arrived at the Hora farm there was a big crowd of friends and neighbors in the yard along with other curious Iowans who wanted to "see what a Russian really looks like."

While the Russians were passing by the Hora pig lot, a young Negro, Vernon Wilkerson, 26, pulled out and displayed a large placard which read:

"Iowans are prejudiced, narrow and hypocritical."

The Russian delegates paid no attention and kept on walking. Sheriff Charles Snyder began questioning Wilkerson who said he was from Washington, D. C. and his mother had given him for his college at Mount Pleasant.

He told the sheriff he came up to the Hora farm after being refused when he attempted to buy a drink in Burlington.

When the sheriff pointed out that sale of liquor by the drink is forbidden in Iowa, Wilkerson said he just wanted a glass of beer. He decided Iowans were prejudiced against his race and decided to make a demonstration.

MIAMI, Fla., July 19 (AP)—A mother's attempt to take the punishment for her cop-shooting son failed today in Criminal Court and Judge Ben C. Willard sentenced them both to 10 years in prison.

Although Frank Lutz, 17, actually pulled the trigger when policeman L. E. Anderson was shot in the back March 21, the judge ruled that the youth's mother, Antoinette Lutz, 45, was equally guilty. They had declined a trial by jury.

Mrs. Lutz testified that her son was "a good boy and it (the shooting) was all my fault." Anderson recovered from his wounds.

Anderson was shot three times when he tried to question Mrs. Lutz and her son about a bad check they had passed. Lutz said he shot the officer with a pistol

U. S. Farmer Is Amazed By Moscow's Jaywalkers

Editor's Note: The following dispatch was written for The Associated Press by Charles J. Hearst of Cedar Falls, Iowa, one of 12 U. S. farm leaders now visiting Russia as a part of an exchange of American and Russian farm delegations. A farmer and stockman, Hearst specializes in purebred Shorthorn cattle and Hampshire hogs crossed with Poland China hogs. He is a third generation Iowan.

By CHARLES J. HEARST

MOSCOW, July 19 (AP)—This is an Iowa farmer's view of Moscow.

"It's amazing they don't kill hundreds of people here daily with all this jaywalking, even on the amazingly wide streets in the center of the town.

Why, we could finance Cedar Falls for one year on what we could collect in jaywalking fines in one week in Moscow if we ran things on the same scale.

This is one of the primary impressions of our American farm delegation in Russia for a four-week tour of the Soviet interior to view its collective and state farms, and especially its newly plowed virgin lands, to see where we can help the Russians in an Iowa-style corn-hog culture.

This corn-hog culture is desired by Soviet Communist Party Secretary Nikita Khrushchev to speed up agriculture and livestock production to help feed the Soviet Union's growing population.

We saw two Moscow showspots Sunday and in many ways we were impressed. In the morning we went sightseeing and drove past — but didn't inspect closely — the new skyscraper Moscow University outside town.

It looked impressive but we'd like to have a look at its curriculum and students when time permits.

At noon we visited the Bolshoi Theater to see the ballet "Happy Shore." This lasted three hours and some of our group got hungry and bored and went out to eat or went home. Most of us, however, found the dancing well done, the music pleasant and enjoyed the show very much. Most of us would like to see more of the Russian theater.

As far as the Bolshoi is concerned, which is the Soviet Union's plushiest theater, we were not impressed. It looked like a 19th century plant. The Russians who attended it looked like a movie crowd back home and not like an audience for the legitimate theater.

Sunday afternoon we visited the Soviet Union's big permanent agricultural exhibition in Moscow and there saw some things which impressed us. This is a big magnificent show and we know that here Soviet agriculture puts several of its best feet forward.

From the exhibition we gathered that Soviet agriculture is doing a good job in many ways — although differently from Iowa and aiming at different goals. For instance, cattle displayed there looked somewhat larger than ours, sheep also. And they had some big horses. It was the first time that some of us also was the first time we had seen three horses hitched in what they call a troika.

But as far as agriculture is concerned, all our delegation are determined we are going to do lots of looking and keep our eyes open. We know there is lots of difference between an agriculture exhibition in Moscow and the virgin lands of Central Asia and we are going to find out all we can.

We are going to see if Khrushchev's directives can be carried out to grow corn in the far north and in semi-arid lands in Central Asia. We are going to look for dust bowls and we are going to see how people live on our promised itinerary from Kharkov in the Ukraine to Tashkent, to the Urals and near Siberia.

In two days in Moscow we also have been startled at the number of women we have seen doing manual work — shoveling, sweeping streets, working on building sites.

Nagging Backache Sleepless Nights

Nagging backache, headache, or muscular aches and pains may come on with over-exertion, emotional upsets or day to day stress and strain. And folks who eat and drink unwisely sometimes suffer mild bladder irritation... with that restless, uncomfortable feeling.

If you are miserable and worn out because of these discomforts, Doan's Pills often help by their pain relieving action, by their soothing effect to ease bladder irritation, and by their mild diuretic action through the kidneys — tending to increase the output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes.

So if nagging backache makes you feel dragged-out, miserable... with restless, sleepless nights... don't wait... try Doan's Pills... get the same happy relief millions have enjoyed for over 60 years. Get Doan's Pills today!

It would shock American housewives.

We also were amazed at the number of people we have seen jamming stores for the quantity of goods which is available.

So far in Moscow, our Soviet hosts have been very hospitable and have entertained us royally. They obviously planned to treat us fine and we look for the same hospitality in the countryside where we shall all be eager to ask questions of all sorts about Soviet agriculture and the living conditions of the people.

In the countryside we also shall look closely at the Soviet build-birds, and fish. Corn was ground ing, which hasn't impressed us to flour and other cereals were very much in Moscow. Constructed in subterranean containers.

tion here seems slow and in many respects shoddy and inefficient. But we understand that Khrushchev also has sharply criticized Soviet building as inefficient and we think he has a good point there.

Cave Man's Diet

JERUSALEM, Israel, July 19 (AP)—What did man eat 7,000 years ago? From finds made in a just-excavated Neolithic village in Israel it appears that people enjoyed an ample diet of meat of cattle, sheep, goats, antelopes, birds, and fish. Corn was ground ing, which hasn't impressed us to flour and other cereals were very much in Moscow. Constructed in subterranean containers.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK, July 19—(INS)—Davy Crockett didn't die nearly as completely at the Alamo as he's now dying on the special clothing and novelty counters of our department stores.

"Something or somebody pulled the coonskin rug from under our Davy," Max Hess, Jr., the Allentown, Pa., merchandising prodigy tells us. "We haven't found the culprit as yet. Maybe it was all those series about his various love affairs. Maybe it was the release of his congressional speeches. Maybe it's the hot weather. Anyway, the kids stopped buying. We had Davy all over the store. Now he's on one table."

Young Hess owns and minds what must be the biggest country store in the country. The 5-story building, which sells everything from canned octopus to uncanned mink coats, grossed $22,000,000 last year in a town of 106,000. Quite a town, too. Its five newspapers, the Call and Chronicle, have a circulation only a few thousand under the population. Newspaper people have come from all over the world to inspect the plant's almost completely automatic composing room. To boot, Allentown is the only place I know of in this country where the city maintains gay flow-er pots on its lamp posts. Real purty.

Hess has increased his place's business 20 times since he took over during the depression at the age of 21. The Pennsylvania Dutch troop in from miles around to goggle at the wonders of his bazaar. But Hess takes the show on the road, too. He has put on fashion shows in coal mines and steel plants, to show the men what their wives are blowing the dough on.

Informal soul. Waits on customers who can't find a salesgirl, doesn't have an office, sends his Santa Claus looping about the Pennsylvania countryside in a helicopter, invites all new housewives who move into the area to lunch at the store, sells sterling flatware and rare china for 33 cents a week, insures credit payments against the death of a wage earner . . . and officiated at the latest of Davy Crockett.

Howard Hawks, producer of "Land of the Pharaohs" for Warner Brothers, finally found a way to fill a CinemaScope screen. He hired 10,000 Egyptians for some of the background scenes in the super-duper about the building of the great Cheops Pyramid. Another item for the film's auditors: 12,000 breech-clouts.

On an occasion of a visit to the Pyramid in April, an Egyptologist told us one of the greater feats involved in the building of the incredible structure was keeping 100,000 workers and their families supplied with water. Hawks had a water problem, too. To keep "water breaks" from slowing down production in the sizzling heat he hired dozens of night-shirted blokes to stroll among the extras, carrying water jugs suspended on poles just as was done 4,750 years ago.

Texas story: Two oilmen dropped into the Packillac Agency in Fort Worth one afternoon while on a little shopping spree. The eye of one of them lighted on two $10,000 convertibles.

"I'll take them, podner," he said to the salesman. But as he reached in his pocket his friend slapped at his arm.

"No you don't Clem," he said, reaching for his own roll. "You got the lunch."

Kiwanians To Hear Talk By Horner

Aspirants For Farm Queen Title

Among the aspirants for the Allegany County Farm Queen title are Helen Paxton and Joan Luttrell.

Miss Paxton, 16, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Paxton, Route 2, Williams Road. She is a junior at Fort Hill High School, where she is taking a commercial course. She also is a member of the senior band and a member of Beta Tri-Hi-Y.

Miss Luttrell, Baltimore Pike, is a graduate of Fort Hill High School, class of 1955. Active in music, she is a soprano soloist.

The contest is sponsored by the Associated Women of the Farm Bureau, with Mrs. Edgar Matthews, president. The contest is to be held in conjunction with the Farm Bureau picnic Saturday. It will be at the Union Grove camp grounds, with the picnic supper beginning at 6 p. m.

Contestants are girls from 16 to 18 who reside on a farm of not less than three acres. Judging will be on general appearance at the contest, poise, posture, carriage, personality, manners and friendliness. The county winner will compete for the state title at Timonium.

Units Asked To Present Candidate

Mrs. Maude Banzhof asked each unit of the Mountain District, American Legion Auxiliary, to decide upon a candidate for vice president before the state convention, September 7, 8, 9, 10.

At her final meeting as district vice president, held in Oakland, Mrs. Banzhof explained it will be necessary to hold a caucus at the convention unless a candidate is presented prior to that time. The convention will be held at the Atlantic Hotel, Ocean City.

A citation for membership was awarded to Accident by Mrs. Banzhof, who also gave her report of activities for the year as Mountain District vice president. Inasmuch as other reports had been forwarded to the department, none was read.

On behalf of the units, Mrs. Owen Rhodes, department Gold Star chairman and district chaplain; and Mrs. Effie Vogel, department Legislative chairman, and presidents expressed appreciation to Mrs. Banzhof for her work during the year. In responding the latter expressed her appreciation for the cooperation she received. In conclusion she presented handmade stoles to Mrs. Rhodes and Mrs. Katherine B. Smith, secretary.

Twenty-nine members of the various units attended and concluding the evening refreshments were served by Proctor-Kildow Unit 71.

Couple Marks 30th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Sherry, 532 Woodside Avenue, spent their 30th wedding anniversary at the home of their son, John, LaVale, instead of having a formal celebration.

The former Miss Catherine Clem, daughter of Milo Clem Sr., city, and the late Mrs. Clem, became the bride of Mr. Sherry, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sherry, Cumberland, July 12, 1925.

The wedding ceremony was solemnized by Rev. Thompson in the parsonage of the First Methodist Church, with Miss Ruth Campbell and Percy Wilson as their attendants.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherry are the parents of three children, John, Mrs. Joanne Campbell and Mrs. Pauline Logue. They have four grandchildren.

A member of the Police Department, Mr. Sherry is also a member of Aerie 245 Fraternal Order of Eagles and Lodge 271, Loyal Order of Moose.

Invitation, Minstrel Given IOOF

Miss Ellen Newnam, Bicentennial Queen candidate sponsored by the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, was guest speaker at the annual picnic for the residents of the IOOF home, Frederick, and at the Tri-State Past Grands Association family picnic at Minco Park, last week. She extended an invitation to attend the pageant, "Redskins and Redcoats."

Miss Newnam first became associated with the Odd Fellows as a member of Ruth Theta Rho Girls' Club No. 6, then joined Colfax Rebekah Lodge No. 1. She served as chaplain and now is vice grand.

B. E. DeBolt, deputy grand master of the state group, urged they attend several events coinciding with the pageant, particularly the rally, August 20, in the park.

Following a tour of the home and farm a picnic supper was held and a gift presented to each resident. At the Past Grands picnic Mrs. Bertie Ranck was in charge of games, assisted by Miss Newnam. A black face minstrel was presented under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Young. A. Florian Wilson was interactor, John C. Cook and Russell Dolly, end men; Mr. Young, A. E. Keeser and Rev. Harold May, specialty men. The latter as "Sassafra" also accompanied group singing on his accordion.

George H. McCracken Jr., Mrs. Edna Kitzmiller and Mrs. Agnes Peel, members for 45 years, were each presented a box of candy; Mrs. David Ritchie, a gift for the largest family present, and Rev. and Mrs. May's 13 month old baby, the youngest present.

Byron Keeser, Lincoln Lodge, was admitted to Past Grands for a life membership at the business session, following the picnic. Fred Imhoff presided.

Approximately 100 attended from Petersburg 708; Lincoln 47; McLechen, Queen's Point 78; Keyser; Philos, 91; Westernport; Chosen Friends, 34; Chapel Hill, 53; city; Miriam, 16 Westernport; Mt. Olive, Keyser and Colfax, 1, city.

State Group Will Meet Here Sept. 18

Ways to create greater career opportunities in the beauty profession, and technical and artistic phases of professional beauty care discussed at the annual convention of the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association, will be reported by Mrs. Esther Smith, president of the Maryland State Hairdressers, at the state meeting here September 18. Allegany County Unit will be host for the meeting at the Ali Ghan Country Club. A member of the local unit, Mrs. Smith was senior delegate at the convention in Louisville, Ky., last week.

Texas was chosen for the 1956 convention, which will be held the second week of July. The 1957 convention will be held in Washington, D. C. It also is to be in July.

"Waves washed the curls right out of the new hairdos," Mrs. Miriam, New York City, chairman of the 100 member Hair Fashion committee, reported at the convention. She explained that the committee meets with fashion and millinery designers to co-ordinate hair styles, so "the flair of your skirt will harmonize with the flair of your hair." The hairdos had waves, diagonal parts and sleek crowns because the new clothes will have long lines, subtle fabrics and rich colors. "Color," said Mrs. Cordwell, "will be running wild in clothes, so hair colors will be a bit dramatic this season too."

"Even the medical profession looks upon a well groomed appearance as a requirement for a woman's mental health," Mrs. LaFon Vaneek, national president, told the group, pointing out that's why more and more institutions are including beauty parlors in their buildings. Beauty treatments, she said, are no longer a luxury, but a necessity. "Short hair is here to stay, regardless of the new length being worn by fashion models and movie stars," she declared. "Those hairdos are for display no, everyday wear."

Award In Disability Suit Is Reduced

Associate Judge D. Kenneth McLaughlin signed an order in Circuit Court at Hagerstown Monday in a disability case removed from court here.

The case was that of Harry Stottmeyer, Belle Grove section of Baltimore Pike, against the Babcock, Wilcox Company and Travelers Insurance Company. Stottmeyer, through his attorney, Edward J. Ryan, filed a claim with the State Industrial Accident Commission.

He had fractured a vertebra in his spine and broken an ankle in a 24-foot fall from a scaffold on a Baltimore building project, records in the case show. The commission awarded Stottmeyer 45 per cent of total disability.

Stottmeyer appealed this decision to Allegany County Circuit Court and the case was removed to Hagerstown for trial by a jury. The jury increased the award to 95 per cent of total disability. The defendants in the case, represented by Walter C. Capper and Thomas N. Berry, filed a motion for a new trial on grounds the award was excessive.

Judge McLaughlin, after hearing arguments in the case signed the order reducing the jury verdict from 95 to 75 per cent total disability, provided the attorneys for Stottmeyer accepted the reduced award within 10 days. Otherwise the court will grant a motion for a new trial, attorneys for the defendants stated.

Know your type and select the makeup best for you.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Attractiveness is not the only dividend of makeup. It can also help you create the illusion of a face shaped differently from your own.

Even after all these years, it is still fascinating for me to watch a group of Powers Models applying their makeup. As they sit before the well-lighted mirrors, getting ready to be photographed, or as they walk down the runway of a fashion show, you find that each one has an individual beauty trick that improves...or almost changes her original appearance. One model concentrates more on her eyes; another on applying foundation...still another, more on her lipstick. Each applies her makeup like an artist—and with such imagination. Each one is individual and wears the cosmetics that suit her best.

They do amazing things with two shades of foundation—light for dramatizing a feature, and dark for diminishing a flaw. Rouge is the other most effective cosmetic in creating an impression of a different facial type. The value and intensity of rouges, like foundations, is a determining factor in giving prominence to one plane over another.

Let's take some specific examples. If you happen to have a round or square or triangle contour of face with heavy jaws, apply the lighter foundation on the frontal planes of the face and the darker shade of foundation over the jawline. Thus the heavy jaw would recede and the other part of the face would be high-lighted. This same principle may be used to camouflage prominent foreheads and receding chins; hollow cheeks and oversized noses; short necks and long, thin ones. The round face needs rouge applied on the outer portion of the cheeks and carried up faintly to the temples—not applied in circular areas. While the long, narrow face will look better if it has lighter rouge blended in a circle in the center of the cheek plus the lighter foundation to highlight the entire face.

Stallings Held In Forgeries

A 34-year-old federal prison parolee and former Celanese worker is being held in Bedford on at least seven counts of forgery throughout nearby Pennsylvania and Ellerslie. Roy Carlton Stallings, who resided at Wellersburg when arrested here for investigation in June, 1941, surrendered last week to Assistant Police Chief Joseph Clark of the Bedford Borough.

Authorities said Stallings was on parole after serving nine years of a 16-year sentence at Alcatraz for transporting a stolen car across state lines, violation of the uniform firearms act and attacking a federal marshal. At the time he was reportedly in the armed forces.

Stallings, a native of Cooks Mills,

Pa., is accused of forging the name of his ex-employer, Edward McDevitt, to checks cashed in various locations.

Following his arrest at Bedford, federal parole authorities in Pittsburgh went there to question him. It is expected that a detainer will be filed against Stallings for parole violation.

The prisoner also may face further charges of failing to pay taxi fares for trips in Bedford and from Baltimore to Hyndman. Cumberland authorities had been asked to pick up Stallings, described as having a "pleasant personality."

Kelly Plant To Observe Anniversary Next Month

Formal observance of the 35th anniversary of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company in Cumberland will be held Friday, August 12.

The program will include employee family day tours of the plant, historical displays, refreshments and professional entertainment for the immediate families of the firm's 2,500 workers at Cumberland.

Kelly-Springfield signed a contract in 1916 to build a plant in Cumberland, but World War I delayed completion until the middle of 1921.

When the plant was placed in operation, it was the most modern tire factory in the world.

The kickoff for the anniversary celebration will be a luncheon on Thursday, August 11, for city officers and civic officials at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

The main speaker at the luncheon will be Edmund S. Burke, Kelly president.

The celebration will be part of the Fort Cumberland Bicentennial scheduled August 14-20. Many employees of the Kelly-Springfield Company here are taking an active part in the observance.

The Kelly company, which is in its 61st year of business life, was started in Springfield, Ohio, in 1894 with headquarters in a blacksmith shop.

Production was at the staggering pace of one carriage tire a day. Current production in the Cumberland plant runs into the thousands daily.

Most of the area of Idaho lies in the drainage basin of the Columbia river and its tributaries, chief of which is the Snake.

Mental Institution Building Proposed

BALTIMORE, July 19.—A new building costing $1,943,411 for diagnosis and maximum security confinement at the Patuxent Institution of Defective Delinquents was requested yesterday by the Department of Correction.

The institution was opened at Jessup this year to provide a new form of handling criminals with mental deficiencies or emotionally instability.

Dr. Harold M. Boslow, the director, said a separate building for diagnosis is "of the utmost importance." Such work is done now in the main building.

The new building would have a capacity of 200. The present building has room for 400, although there are only 150 there now.

The request for the new building was part of a capital improvement program amounting to $4,199,749 submitted to the State Planning Commission by the Department of Correction.

Kiwanis Club Hears Amcelle Plastics Talk

Elmer T. Beachley, LaVale, assistant superintendent of the Cellulose Acetate Department of Amcelle Plant of Celanese Corporation, spoke on plastics at a recent meeting of the Petersburg, W. Va., Kiwanis Club.

Beachley gave a history of the development of the large plastics industry and exhibited many items made of plastic.

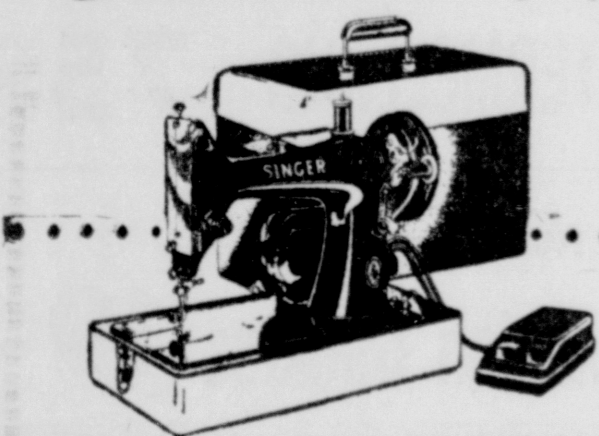

He pointed out Celanese manufactures only bulk plastics such as molding powder and film and then sells them to various fabricators.

He also discussed the manufacture of acetate yarn and displayed samples of Celanese's new product, Celaperm.

Elmer L. Hughes, 31, of 406 Waverly Terrace, who drew a 40-day jail term Monday in Trial Magistrate's Court on two state motor charges, was released yesterday from Allegany County Jail after he paid fines totaling $112.20. Police arrested him Saturday.

Market Rally Cuts Losses Following Morning Selloff

NEW YORK, July 19 (AP)—A burst of selling late in the morning sent share prices lower in the stock market today, but a general recovery in the afternoon trimmed the size of most losses.

The recovery was headed by the aircrafts, which had been among the wider losers in recent sessions. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined $1.00 to $172.80. The industrials lost $1.60 and the rails $1.20 while the utilities bucked the trend to close up 30 cents at a new 1955 high of $74.70. It was not a broad market—1,200 issues traded, of which 333 advanced and 596 declined. There were 28 new highs for the year and 26 new lows. Volume totaled 2,300,000 shares against 2,160,000 yesterday.

It was also noted in Wall Street that there has been considerable switching into utility shares and other so-called defensive issues, such as the tobaccos and variety store chains. These were among the better-acting groups today. Normally quiet Woolworth advanced 2 1/4 at 52 1/2.

Losses of a point or more were posted by Bethlehem Steel, Youngtown Sheet & Tube (which reported sharply higher earnings after the close), Union Carbide, Union Pacific, Illinois Central, Standard Oil (N.J.) and Texas Co. Du Pont slipped 6 1/4 to 227 1/4.

December 21 to pay, and that Thomas B. Finan, city attorney, believes the city can have money from bonds by that time.

To Advertise For Bids
Meantime, the Mayor said, the city will proceed with advertising for laying of the pipeline and added bids will be let by October 10, the date set for the start of delivery of pipe.

Council has not committed itself in sharing the $300,000 hospital nurses' home construction with the county, but is expected to go along. The Board of County Commissioners, it is understood, has agreed to issue its $150,000 share so construction can be started. That will allow council time to include its hospital issue in the proposed "lump" sale of bonds and still make money available so no delay will result in the hospital project.

Get Better Price
The hospital bonds have been authorized by the Legislature and the city could sell them today, Mayor Eves, said. However, by including the issue in the sale with the other three projects, it is hoped to get a better price for them.

Monday, William A. Gunter, president of the Board of Governors of Memorial Hospital, and Dr. Lillian C. Compton, who recently retired as president of Frostburg State Teachers College and is a member of the Board of Governors, appeared before council in behalf of the nurses' home project.

Essence Of America: The Free System

A study of the American system—which for many decades has been proved by results to be the best in the world—shows that the basic factor in that success is free competition. Competition in this country is no longer entirely free. The struggle against bureaucracy and monopoly is never-ending.

But competition in the United States is freer than in any other part of the world today. People, corporations, industries and geographic areas compete with one another, subject only to an assortment of government controls, most of which were imposed in the last 25 years.

Other countries have never known anything resembling the American system. While America was protecting competition and restricting monopoly, other nations legalized monopoly and restricted competition.

In nations that have turned to socialism the trend is to give the state a monopoly in every field. Where socialism does not prevail, many countries regulate trade by associations or cartels which have government sanction. That is in effect monopoly.

Individual opportunity virtually does not exist abroad. People work and earn according to government rules. Freedom is suppressed, not buoyant as in America. The effect upon the human spirit is crushing.

That must be the explanation, since many other countries have large resources but have not developed them. The hope of individual reward was not there to spur people on. A government controlled operation is notoriously bungling and inept. Only those free to do and dare for personal reward have the high incentive to get things done.

That is the essence of the American system. The world today is proof that only the free progress.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Accumulations Of Capital

A basic theory of American capitalism is that competition among the largest possible number of persons produces the most consistently beneficial social results. Therefore monopoly of the ownership of capital has generally been regarded as harmful and laws have been passed to make it difficult without impairing the efficiency of production and distribution.

As the minds in each generation develop methods of evading anti-monopoly laws, but it has, to a very great degree, been possible by various means of restraint and by the constant redistribution of wealth through higher wages, to increase the prospects of a constantly larger number of people to own wealth. The theory and practice of the large corporation is that ownership is widely diffused, being held by thousands—in some instances, hundreds of thousands—of small shareholders. Thus, while the corporation is a vast enterprise, the ownership of it is in a large number of persons who own only a small part of it. There is no concentration of wealth in such enterprises, although there may be a concentration of operational control.

However, there is an increasing tendency to create instruments for the concentration of capital which could, in time, absorb so large a share of the wealth of the nation as to imperil the capitalist system. These may be put into four categories:

1. Foundation: This is a device now employed by individuals to avoid the total dissipation of their estates at death by inheritance taxes. It is also employed by business firms to maintain continuity of management and to avoid dissipation of assets, particularly by firms in which an individual or a family owns a very great share of the capital investment. Family-owned firms are the worst sufferers from the inheritance tax.

By establishing a Foundation and turning over to the Foundation a large share or all of the capital assets, it is possible to keep the business intact and to maintain continuity of management. If this device is not used, it might be necessary to sell, in a forced market, valuable properties in order to get cash to meet inheritance tax obligations.

2. The Life Insurance Companies: Because of the really valuable service these companies perform and the confidence of the American people in their management, which in the mutualized companies is generally of the highest order, the life insurance companies do an enormous business, accumulate vast quantities of capital which they invest and add the profits to their capital.

Death in the United States averages at a much later age than is anticipated by any basic mortality table. Therefore the insurance companies enjoy a windfall in the longevity of their customers. The result is that in the insurance companies is an accumulation of wealth which is not distributed with sufficient rapidity to serve the capitalist system. The insurance companies generally recognize this and meet it by increasing dividends to policyholders and by engaging in low-profit social investments such as housing.

3. The Welfare Funds: An enormous and automatic accumulation of capital in the various types of welfare funds is another and new factor in the process of concentration of wealth. This is complicated by a relationship to insurance companies. This entire field is so recent in its growth and development that it has not been adequately studied nor is there sufficient legislation to restrain management. Already there are evidences of corruption and abuse. In this article, however, we are only concerned with the question of the concentration of capital and the menace to the capitalist system in the United States arising therefrom.

4. The Government of the United States: As the Government expands its ownership and operation of production and distribution, it sets aside accumulations of wealth for these purposes. These accumulations come from taxes, fees and profits—but principally from tax money. Government enterprises often function advantageously in relationship to privately-owned business because they pay no taxes, enjoy the right of eminent domain, do not adhere to the bookkeeping methods insisted upon by the Internal Revenue Service or the SEC or similar agencies. These accumulations of capital are of such a nature that they are never redistributed although in theory the whole people of the United States own them. If this theory abides for an increasing share of the productive and distributive instruments of this country, it becomes, by definition, Marxian socialism which is destructive of capitalism.

Allies Know Soviet Wants New Relationship

By David Lawrence

(This is an analysis based on information derived from sources in Geneva, Washington, London, Paris and Moscow and to some extent reflects confidential data available to the United States government.)

What The U. S. And Allies Know:

1. That the Soviet rulers want a new and different relationship with the Western powers.

2. That blustering tactics have been abandoned by the Soviets in favor of a conciliatory approach.

3. That the burden of armament is heavy on the Russians.

4. That Communist China is an expensive ally for the Kremlin, costing Moscow nearly four billion dollars in the past two or three years.

5. That the governmental structure in Moscow, though a dictatorship, is not as clear-cut under the committee system as it was under the one-man rule of Stalin. This has resulted in a clumsiness and an uncertainty down the line in executing decisions.

6. That whatever terms are used to describe Russia's internal situation—either weakness due to agricultural difficulties or lack of consumer goods or an overemphasis on heavy goods—the economic setup isn't what might be called healthy. Unless a fundamental change in economic policies is effected, something is going to crack.

7. The satellites are a real headache for the Kremlin. The Soviet turnabout in the policy toward Austria and the craven approach to Tito are part of a new effort to ward off trouble in what have been up to now puppet states.

8. The embargo on the strategic goods sorely needed by Soviet Russia and Red China is pinching. The Communists are desperate for industrial machinery and certain raw materials.

9. Despite the steady development of air power by Russia and an intensified research on atomic weapons, the Soviet military machine is not ready for a world war.

10. A change in military concepts has occurred inside the Russian staff command. The true significance of "massive retaliation" has finally seeped through and has been distorted by the Russian military experts to mean "surprise attack." But whatever the words used, there is a chance of greater destruction of Russian than of American cities in an atomic war. The net result is a Soviet unreadiness to fight a world war now.

11. Russian diplomacy is exerting every effort to make a political issue out of the building of air bases in Europe for the use of American Air Forces. Efforts by the Soviets to have these bases eliminated and if possible to break up or frustrate the North Atlantic Treaty Organization are definitely part of the Soviet long-range objectives.

What The U. S. And Allies Don't Know:

(a) The price the Russians are willing to pay for a breathing spell—a truce that might give them needed goods and a relaxation of the tempo of the Western nations in the armament race.

(b) Whether any system of inspection of armament production will be accepted by Moscow that could really permit the Western allies to limit arms.

(c) Whether the entire peace move is a gesture for propaganda purposes and a device to slow down the Western armament program.

(d) Whether a Soviet offer to withdraw troops from Hungary and Bulgaria will impress the world as a true act of peacefulness when actually the commitment to do so is a logical consequence militarily of the liberation of Austria.

(e) Whether "free elections," Russian style, will fool the peoples of the Western world. Separate segments of the Communist party could run as a series of opposition parties and bring about the same end result as if a single party were on the ballot.

(f) Whether another proposal to dissolve the "Cominform" and seemingly abandon international Communism will be made just as it was in 1953 when the United States was persuaded to reorganize the Moscow government on the strength of such assurances only to find a few months later that they were empty promises. The same thing happened in 1943, and when it suited the Kremlin, the international apparatus of subversion was again put into operation.

(g) Whether any plan for the reunification of Germany will be brought forth that can really be acceptable to the West.

What U. S. And Allies Intend To Do At Geneva

1. Keep an open mind. Listen to all proposals objectively but alertly and cautiously.

2. Watch the propaganda moves and emphasize the Western viewpoint as one of peacefulness and conciliation, so that no charge can be justified that the West entered the meeting with a closed mind or in a truculent mood.

3. Talk peace as loudly and as eloquently, if not more so, than the Russians ever have done.

4. If the Moscow rulers then fail to come through with anything really worth while, the Western governments will be in the position of having explored every opportunity to make an agreement, and the responsibility for the failure will not be placed on the West in the court of public opinion throughout the world.

5. Keep the doors open after the Geneva conference ends so that the Soviets will continue to make offers and be encouraged to submit plans for settlement of outstanding issues.

6. Keep the talking and the peace movement going indefinitely, with more and more conferences in the hope that this at last will defer the start of more of the "little wars" that can add up to a big war. It's not a "peace conference" but a truce conference at Geneva.

Baering Down on The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Senator Bill Knowland still warns us against Greeks bearing gifts. We're warning Bill against Greeks exchanging 'em.

Bill's been issuing bedside bulletins from the politics that makes odd hammock testers. His Fourth of July tub-thumping in West Virginia is still echoing from the hills and stuttering from the valleys.

Bill was as correct as white-tie-and-tails when he said the United Nations didn't want to tackle the Birdie Peabacks-Harry the Hat em-brawl in Cincinnati. Well, neither did Harry the Hat.

In case both Peiping and Formosa are seated Bill warns us the Chinese take an oath by breaking a dish. He says you might keep an eye on the spoons too.

Things are starting to straighten out like a waxed mustache. We knocked off the Russian eight-oared varsity at Henley-On-Thames. Their chess-masters beat our checker-pushers in Moscow. And our Iowa corn-doctors are showing Russian weed-benders how to hide a jug in a cornfield.

Bill is right when he says it's not how you play the game that counts. It's who does the umpiring.

He's leader of the GOP senators in a Senate that is slightly Democratic. If he wants the last word he has to get it in first.

Bill is not the first Cat of our legislative labyrinths. Into all lives a little Carthage must fall.

That's why the Scotch national bagpipe also sounds like it has stepped on thistles.

Stomach Acids, Enzymes Kill Swallowed Germs

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Deilen

Many individuals are curious about what happens to the germs most of us swallow each day along with saliva, food, and drink. The majority are destroyed by the hydrochloric acid and other ferments and enzymes that make up the gastric juices. In other words, these juices have antiseptic as well as digestive properties.

This is helpful because the oral cavity teems with bacteria and other micro-organisms that lodge in the crypts and crevices of tongue, throat, tonsils, and teeth. Mucus, manufactured constantly in the nose, drips backward into the throat carrying trillions of dirt particles and good and bad bacteria.

When a cold is present, the secretions are increased and a new group of invaders moves in. Unless this material is expectorated, it travels to the stomach whenever we swallow. Hydrochloric acid, however, issues a death warrant to many potential breeders of disease.

Food neutralizes the acid and germs swallowed during mealtime get an undeserved break. Moreover, some species of organisms resist the acid. Those able to survive include tubercle bacilli and the spore forming types that lead to tetanus, gas gangrene, and anthrax.

The same can be said of organisms responsible for cholera and Salmonella diseases such as typhoid. Many fungi also are able to withstand the effects of gastric acid. Viruses are equally resistant, including those causing polio and infectious hepatitis.

If most harmful organisms are killed by the digestive juices, why do some forms of food poisoning develop? When the causative bacteria set up housekeeping in chicken salad or a chocolate éclair they multiply rapidly, particularly in unrefrigerated food. But the toxins produced are the real troublemakers in food poisoning; gastric juice can destroy germs, but has no effect upon the toxin.

Experimental work done with intestinal flue showed that if the virus is enclosed in a capsule and passes safely through the stomach, the disease does not develop.

On the other hand, if it is painted on the back of the throat, typical signs of intestinal flu are evident.

This study demonstrates that the virus gains entrance to the body via the nasal pharynx. Some authorities believe it goes from there to the intestinal tract through the blood stream. Others are of the opinion that the causative agent invades certain centers of the brain to produce nausea, vomiting, diarrhea, and cramping.

INTESTINAL INFECTION

N. Z. writes: Is there such a thing as a cold in the intestines?

REPLY

Yes, if you refer to such infections as intestinal flu. The causative virus invades the intestinal tract and produces cramping, nausea, vomiting, and diarrhea.

SILENT CORONARY

F. D. writes: I haven't been feeling too good and went to the doctor for a checkup. He took an electrocardiogram and, much to my surprise, it showed evidence of coronary thrombosis. Could I have had a heart attack without pain and collapse?

REPLY

A small percentage of attacks of coronary thrombosis are painless. But to make certain, have another electrocardiogram taken or another interpretation of the first one.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Deilen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Geneva Conference Is Undoing Things Advocated 10 Years Ago

By Drew Pearson

GENEVA—Modern diplomacy, it's said, is sometimes a system of "controversial history." At any rate, the "summit" conference here is busily engaged in undoing some of the things these same statesmen did just ten years ago.

And here are some flashbacks into history which illustrate how history is being rewritten in the secret huddles of Geneva.

Flashback No. 1—Took place at General Eisenhower's headquarters outside London exactly 10 years ago when, with Germany in full retreat, he lunched with one Harry Dexter White, now branded by Attorney General Brownell a traitor, and listened sympathetically to plans for dividing Germany into two parts.

Flashback No. 2—Took place in Berlin a little later when Eisenhower sat with Marshal Zhukov in a Berlin night club, watched German dancing girls, and drank a toast to total, perpetual dismemberment of Germany.

Flashback No. 3—Took place in Stuttgart nine years ago when Jimmie Byrnes, then Secretary of State, made a speech which echoed round the world proposing Germany be neutralized and demilitarized for 40 years.

Flashback No. 4—Took place about the same time, when Eisenhower agreed to and started carrying out famous Order No. 1066 specifying that German industry must be destroyed and that Germany become an agricultural state never to rise to military power again.

Paradox

In contrast the chief problem Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles are now discussing at the summit is Germany—how it can be rearmed, how it can be united, how it can become a power in the world again. While Indo-China is rapidly failing to Communism, while the Korean peace is threatened by the Communist arms buildup in North Korea which makes it no permanent peace, while Quemoy and Matsu are the objects of probable early attack, the Americans at the summit are still wrapped up almost exclusively in Germany.

Eisenhower can say that, in 1945-46, he was a soldier and just taking orders. Today his friends can say that, as President, he's just taking the advice of his Secretary of State. But the Secretary of State who is advising Eisenhower today happens to be the same John Foster Dulles whose advice on Germany in the 1920's was just as bad or worse than critics of Henry Morgenthau say his advice was in the 1940's. For Dulles was an attorney for the New York bankers who in the 1920's came back from Europe repeatedly to announce "Germany is a sound investment; its future is assured."

After each Dulles statement, the German bond market soared only to end in one of the world's worst financial tragedies.

Dulles may be right this time about Germany's long-range future. He may be right, however, for reasons opposite to his own desire that Germany be rebuilt into a strong military nation.

For the paradoxical fact is that, while the top leaders of the world are haggling over Germany's future, the German people are expressing some potent ideas of their own. And they don't all relish the Dulles-Eisenhower idea of making them a military nation.

Unmilitaristic Military

For, while headlines in the papers acclaimed the new volunteer military bill being passed by the West German Parliament during the Geneva talks, the real fact is that all the debates in the German parliament showed the German people no more anxious for militarism than the average American youngster is anxious to be drafted.

The German military bill is one of the most unusual ever passed by any supposedly militaristic nation. It provides a committee of 38 anti-Hitler civilians to screen every general and colonel to make sure he's not a former Hitlerite. It provides tight controls by parliament over the Army. It provides only 6,000 recruits by March 1956, which certainly isn't going to worry the Russians, and it provides only 12 divisions in six years which again, contrasted with Russia's 175 divisions, isn't worth sneezing at from the Kremlin's viewpoint.

Simultaneous with this unmilitaristic military start in West Germany, the German press, though strongly anti-Communist, has been full of the futurity of building up land divisions as a defense against atomic warfare. Five anti-Communist German editors touring Russia have written friendly, favorable reports about the possibility of cooperating with Russia. Adolbert Weinstein, military editor of the influential Frankfurter Allgemeine Zeitung, after a friendly visit to the United States, has returned as a potent opponent of German rearmament. His six-weeks inspection of U. S. military installations backfired and he's now telling the German people there's no sense in recruiting a land army for defense against the atom.

This is the weak and wavering German backdrop against which Dulles and Eisenhower are weaving their chief strategy in Europe and their chief talks here in Geneva. Their chief friend is the valiant, courageous, 79-year-old Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, related by marriage to former High Commissioner Jack McCloy, now head of the Chase Bank. Adenauer will stand with us through thick and thin, but the Russians know he cannot last forever.

No wonder sophisticated diplomats from neutral powers are amazed that we continue to worry about a few German land divisions and don't get on with the main problem of what we are going to do about a China where land divisions are without end and about how we shall prevent a catastrophic hydrogen war of the future.

Foot Of The Summit

By Bob Considine

GENEVA—(INS)—Some random notes made at the foot of the summit meeting:

Had a nice helicopter ride en route to Geneva. Sabena, Belgian World Airlines, operates the only international whirly-bird passenger service. It links Belgium with Holland, France and Germany.

A 7-passenger American-built Sikorsky S-55 'copter was waiting at Melsbroek Airport, Brussels, when the big Sabena Douglas touched down. Bags were transferred in a hurry and off I went with Bob Maillard, Sabena press chief. In a couple of minutes we settled down at Allee Verte Heliport in the heart of Brussels and a few minutes later were looking over the menu at the Epaulie du Mouton.

We'll have this kind of service in New York, Chicago, Detroit, L. A., San Francisco and other big U. S. cities one of these years when we stop trying to roost our heliports on the top of 16 story buildings. Sabena can take you from downtown Brussels to downtown Rotterdam, Lille, Cologne and a lot of other cities. Their heliports are big honest clearings in the heart of things, like Allee Verte, site of the first railroad terminal on the continent.

Sabena daily proves the helicopter is here to stay and predicts it will give the industry the same shot in the arm as the development of the DC-3 and the transoceanic plane.

The do-gooders have been coming to Geneva since Voltaire settled here.

The city became the seat of the International Red Cross a year before our Civil War ended. The League of Nations settled here in 1920 and lasted 26 years. The International Labor Organization is here and most of the International Telecommunications Body, the group that has more member nations than UN and is charged with the difficult job of keeping each country's radio and TV waves and channels out of the next country's hair.

This latter is an outfit of little or no tension. The Russian delegate once made a speech asking that the group stop using the word "Marconigram" because the inventor of wireless was the Russian Popoff.

"Fine, we'll call it the Popoffgram hereafter," snapped the American delegate.

Last time I was here I went into a cheese shop and asked for some Swiss cheese. The man looked at me like I had a screw loose. Finally drew him picture of a slab of cheese with holes in it.

"Ah," he said, brightening up. "We have none. That is made only for export."

The Swiss, a peaceful people, have a background of stormy warfare. When they weren't fighting at home they were renting themselves out to fight. Nearly every European army from the 15th Century to the 19th made use of Swiss Mercenaries. Some were forced into such service. Francis I used 120,000 Swiss in his army at one time. His 100-man Swiss Guard was wiped out to the last man before Francis was captured by the Spanish in the battle of Pavia (1525).

Swiss Guards valiantly defended the Tuilleries Palace in Paris in the French Revolution but when Louis XVI ordered them to cease fire, the mob killed 500 of them. Swiss soldiers died like flies for Napoleon on the retreat from Moscow. The Swiss Constitution of 1848 stopped all recruitment of Swiss by foreign powers. The one exception is the Swiss Guard at the Vatican, installed in 1506 by Pope Julius II as a personal guard. Michelangelo designed their uniform as an affront to a Pope he didn't like, but the Pope said "swell," or something of that nature and it remains the same today.

Un-Switzerland activities joke, overheard at the Beau Rivage: "You see what peace does? Take Switzerland. Generations without a war and all they've come up with is the yodel and the cuckoo clock."

Pajama Plant Building Plans Are Presented

$80,000 Estimated Construction Cost

Three officials of the Berkowitz Company of Frostburg yesterday submitted formal plans for construction of a new plant building to the Frostburg Mayor and Council.

Stanley J. Capelin, engineer for the company, met yesterday morning with Mayor Perry W. Myers and discussed basic specifications for construction.

Capelin said the second floor of the building has been partially closed.

Employees are still working around the outer edge of the floor although the center section of the second floor has been condemned because of heavy machinery.

Capelin presented blueprints to Mayor Myers, and said that at least 15,000 feet of floor space should be provided in the new building. Cost of the construction is estimated at $80,000, with a 10-year lease.

Capelin told the Frostburg mayor that at least an acre of land is needed for the building, but that five acres would be desirable to handle the parking problem, and provide space for additional improvements in future years.

Capelin said the company is asking for only the basic needs in order to provide employment for residents of Frostburg.

Plans for financing the building have not been completed. Mayor Myers said construction could be financed by a fund drive by the citizens of Frostburg, or council could provide the money.

Mayor Myers said he will contact officials of the Frostburg Industrial Organization to seek aid in deciding on which plan to use. Myers informed Capelin the matter will be handled immediately in order that construction may be started as soon as possible.

Also meeting with the Frostburg Mayor was Richard McKay, general plant manager and Norman Fisher, manager of the Frostburg factory.

WHY GAS WATER HEATER SHOULD BE AUTOMATIC UNDERFIRE INSULATED

What ruins a hot shower more than a surprise ending with cold water? Can you do your laundry with lukewarm water? These things happen with old fashioned water heaters.

With an AUTOMATIC gas water heater there's always hot water. Merely set the dial and the thermostat keeps the water at the temperature you select. Once the water gets hot, the main burner is automatically shut off... it burns gas only when the thermostat calls for it.

The water heater should be INSULATED to prevent heat loss. Thick insulation keeps water hot for hours without burning gas. The UNDERFIRE water heater has the flame under the tank, where it is more efficient... instead of being under a heating coil at the side of the tank.

The chances are you can actually save money on every gas bill... and have the pleasure of all the hot water you can use... with an AUI water heater. Why not stop in at our store and see the finest water heater on the market, the new REX "XL" heater.

Clean-Up Drive Is Underway At Piedmont

Parking Meter Receipts Cited

PIEDMONT—Fines will be levied on residents of this community who are notified to clean up their premises and do not comply.

Mayor Rodney Baker announces that all persons brought before him for such reasons will be fined. Police Officer Eugene Keyes, during a regular meeting of the Mayor and Council, pointed out that he has notified 12 persons to clean up their premises and will continue notifying people where necessary.

In other routine business, the receipts from parking meters and traffic violations for the past two weeks amounted to $167.36, according to Ormond Ledlow, city clerk.

Ledlow also said that 315 garbage cards had been sold for the third quarter. He was authorized to prepare the fiscal budget for approval of the finance committee on August 2.

The retaining wall in the vicinity of the Piedmont Grocery Company on East Fairview Street has been repaired, it was reported.

A portion of the Rat Tail Road in the east section of the town will be repaired. About 10 feet of it will be blacktopped, the mayor stated.

The mayor reported that it would take about $200 in parts to put the town's street roller in condition for use and it was ordered that the parts be purchased.

A shale spreader the town purchased several years ago which the street employees have little use for will be sold in the near future.

A permit was granted to renew a roof and make other necessary repairs to property located at 28-30 East Hampshire Street, occupied by Harold Robertson and Frank Anderson. The application was signed by Joseph Maybury.

Nelson Rockefeller Is Ike's Backstage Specialist In Waging 'Nonmilitary War'

By ED CREAHER
WASHINGTON, July 19 (AP)—One day in the 1930s a husky, slightly ruffled young man hurried to an elevator in New York's Rockefeller Center, stepped in and stood with his toes just about grazing the groove for the sliding door. "Better move back, sir," warned the elevator operator. The young man shook his head. "I know exactly where to stand," he said firmly. The door slid shut—and missed his nose by a bare half inch. The young man had good reason for knowing where to stand. He had a lot to do with building Rockefeller Center and its elevators. He was, in fact, president of the whole operation. His name is Nelson Aldrich Rockefeller. Today, still youthful-looking at 47, this second son of John D. Rockefeller Jr., probably still would not be recognized by elevator operators in many places except the musty old executive offices building next to the White House.

County Agent Offers Beetle Control Advice
County Agent Joseph F. Siegel reports that many county residents have called his office to ask advice on how to control Japanese beetles on their farms. For small tracts two tablespoons of 50 per cent wettable DDT are recommended for each gallon of water. For barn or stable flies the ratio is one pound for each five gallons of water. The recommendation for Japanese beetle grub is for one pound of 50 per cent wettable DDT to three or four pounds of sand scattered over the lawn.

Insurance Bid For City Fleet Received

The Mayor and Council received one bid Monday for insuring its fleet and equipment. That came from Farm Bureau Mutual Auto Insurance Company and listed an amount of $2,795.11. The bid was referred to Finance Commissioner John J. Long and City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson. Council authorized Street Commissioner William H. Buchholz to advertise for bids for a backstop and baseline screen at Thomas S. Post field. Funds are to come from the playground bond fund. Buchholz will also advertise for calcium chloride in carload lots. City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery is on vacation and Gibson was acting clerk yesterday.

Philadelphia socialite Mary Todhunter Clark took her on a year-long honeymoon around the world. They have five children and recently became grandparents. Rockefeller "broke into" the business world with the Chase National Bank, headed at the time by his uncle, Winthrop Aldrich, who now is ambassador to Great Britain. But he soon became active in the building of Rockefeller Center—and, no easy matter in those depression days, in the renting of offices in the completed buildings.

So aggressive was his salesmanship that a business rival, August Heckscher, sued Rockefeller and his father for 10 million dollars, charging unfair competition and coercion in obtaining tenants. Heckscher later dropped the suit. A collector of art, especially Latin-American art, Rockefeller has served as president of New York's Museum of Modern Art.

Rockefeller's later business and philanthropic interests have been extensive and varied. He is convinced private business must in its own longterm interest help raise living standards abroad, help the peoples of undeveloped areas raise their own standards.

"Nelson thinks in big terms," one associate says. "He decided on the spur of the moment the only way to get the United Nations located in New York was to give the U.N. the land—so his father forked over 8½ million dollars and Nelson put through the deal in 24 hours. "Nelson's been known to pull bloopers, but some 'wild' ideas of his have turned out to make a lot of sense when people had the vision to realize it."

West Virginia State Shoot Opens July 29 At Ridgeley

Ridgeley Host To Title Test For 8th Year

3-Day Meet To Draw 100; McDonald Will Defend Two Crowns

The Ridgeley Rod and Gun Club will play host to approximately 100 gunners from at least five states when the thirty-fifth annual West Virginia state trapshooting tournament is held at the club's traps, on Route 28, five miles south of Ridgeley on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, July 29, 30 and 31. Tony Francis, of Westport, announced last night.

Ridgeley will be the scene of the state championship event for the eighth time in ten years. Last year the shoot was staged at Bluefield, the second time in ten years it has been held there.

This year's program will open with a preliminary round of 100 yard targets, 25 pairs of double and 50 handicap targets on Friday, July 29.

Title Race Opens Saturday

Championship events get under way the following day with 200 yard targets for the state singles title. On Sunday, the final day, the program will comprise 50 pairs of doubles and 100 handicap targets, 18 to 27 yards rise. Heretofore, the maximum yardage for handicap shooting was 25 yards but under the new rules two more yards have been added. Edgar H. McDonald, of Headsville, Mineral County, W. Va., recognized as the state's top gunner, has been shooting from 24 yards for the past year. He still looks as "the man to beat" in the state championship tests judging from his stellar performances this year. In a recent shoot in North Carolina McDonald won the singles by shattering 193 out of 200 and blasted 94 out of 100 in the handicap event. His average for the year is near the 98 mark.

McDonald and E. W. Meador are West Virginia's defending champions. The Headsville ace won both the singles and all-around titles with scores of 195-200 and 361-400. Meador also scored a "double," taking the doubles crown with a score of 80 out of 50

Hartack Suffers Pelvic Injury At Arlington Park

CHICAGO, July 19 (AP)—Willie Hartack, one of the year's top jockeys, suffered a pelvic injury today when he fell while attempting to pull up his mount after the third race at Arlington Park.

Hartack was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital in Elgin, Ill. The mishap occurred while he was aboard Gray Moon after riding the first race winner.

Constance, Fuentes Fight At Garden

NEW YORK, July 19 (AP)—Hector Constance and Ramon Fuentes, two strong welterweights with designs on Carmen Basilio's title, meet tomorrow night at Madison Square Garden.

A minimum of customers probably will show up but the cameras and microphones will be on the job for the usual radio-TV (ABC) treatment, starting at 9 p.m. (EST).

Constance, from Trinidad, shocked Kid Gavilan at Miami Beach Feb. 23. A 9-5 underdog, Constance beat Gavilan to the punch time after time and outboxed him when he flurried. Constance is a 7 to 5 favorite over Fuentes.

Birrer Falls Short Of Raschi's Record

DETROIT, July 19 (AP)—Werner (Babe) Birrer came close to tying a major league record today when the rookie Detroit right-hander hit a pair of three-run homers in the Tigers' 12-4 victory over Baltimore.

The record for runs batted in by a pitcher in one game is seven, set by Vic Raschi with the New York Yankees, Aug. 4, 1953, in a 15-0 romp over Detroit.

pairs and the handicap with 94 out of 100.

Five Pros To Assist

Five professionals will assist in running the Ridgeley program. They are R. J. Dickey and Norman N. Powell, of Remington Arms; George R. Bolton and Elmer Gourley, of Winchester Western, and Jack W. Spade, of the Federal Cartridge Corporation.

The last state shoot held at the Ridgeley traps in 1953 attracted 100 gunners.

Mountain Top, Fort Hill Win Rifle Matches

LaVale And Hercules Lose Smallbore Tests

Fort Hill and Mountain Top were winners in the Western Maryland League's seventh smallbore rifle match fired Sunday evening at Frostburg and Oakland. The event was the first of its kind attempted by league shooters during an outdoor season and consisted of 20 shots each in the kneeling and standing positions at 100 yards distance.

Frank Simpson's 368-8x tally helped Fort Hill stop Hercules, 1435-21x to 1422-29x at Frostburg. Jim Spitznogle's 380-11x was best total for the losers and topped all gunners for individual honors in the meet.

Shooting a home range match, Mountain Top at Oakland easily defeated LaVale at Frostburg, 1348-19x to 995-7x. Ed Michael paced the Oaklanders with 371-5x. The short-handed LaVale crew was led by Jesse Dom's 356-2x.

Three matches are scheduled for the special series and the second contest will take place next Sunday afternoon. Local teams will fire at Frostburg range and Mountain Top will shoot at Oakland.

Detroit Routs Orioles, 12-4

Birrer Hits Pair Of 3-Run Homers

DETROIT, July 19 (AP)—Werner (Babe) Birrer was a relief pitcher deluxe today, hitting two three-run home runs to go with his four innings of shutout pitching in the Detroit Tigers' 12-4 victory over the Baltimore Orioles.

Birrer, a rookie right-hander from Buffalo, smacked the ball into the left field seats off George Zuverink in the sixth inning and Art Schallack in the eighth—each time after Frank House and Fred Hatfield were on base with singles.

They were only the second and third major league hits for the 195-pound Birrer. His other one was a double June 11 against Boston.

Birrer did not get credit for the victory, however. That went to Frank Lary, his ninth against 10 defeats. Lary held a 5-4 lead when Birrer replaced him with none out in the sixth inning.

Detroit totaled 14 hits off loser Jim McDonald, Zuverink, Don Johnson and Schallack. McDonald gave up the first five runs in the third inning, three of them scoring after he set up an inning-ending double play and forgot to make it.

Singles by Hatfield, Harvey Kuenn and Bill Tuttle and a double by Al Kaline scored two runs and left runners on second and third when out on second and third intentionally walked light-hitting Earl Torgeson to take a chance on catching Ray Boone in a double play.

Boone obliged with a smash back to McDonald, but with an easy out at either the plate or second base, he merely threw to first. Tuttle scored, and Charlie Maxwell followed with a two-run single.

Lary gave up a home run to the first batter he faced, Fred Marsh. It was the first of the year for Marsh and only his ninth in the majors.

Middlecoff Is Installed Favorite In PGA Tourney

Qualifying Round Of 36-Holes Opens Today At Detroit

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

DETROIT, July 19 (AP)—A stop-and-go tournament program has paid off for Cary Middlecoff this season in two prestige loaded golf titles, three other tournament victories and $22,643.93 in cash. And it has made him favored to win another big one when the 37th Professional Golfers Assn. championship gets going tomorrow.

Fresh from winning the Milwaukee Open last week, the ex-molar mauler from Memphis took a deep breath of Detroit's steamy hot atmosphere on his arrival at the Meadowbrook Country Club, PGA tournament site, and remarked:

"If the weather stays like this I don't know that I'll make it." Then he went on to explain his new program, which calls for frequent rest intervals during the hot summer months.

"I can play every week on the winter tour," Cary said, "but when I get up north here in the summer, I find I have to take time off now and then."

After eight years on the circuit, the tall Tennessee figure has finally learned to pace himself and he plans to use his energy trying to win the tournaments that count. He has taken the Masters and the Western Open, both regarded as major events, and if he wins the PGA he'll join Sam Snead, now the only player who has won all three the same year. Snead, of course, figures to be one of his toughest rivals here.

Like everyone else except defending champion Chick Harbert in the field of 135, Snead and Cary will have to play 36 qualifying holes tomorrow and Thursday. Then the surviving 64 plunge into two 18 hole rounds of match play Friday. After those sudden death rounds, they go to 36 holes for the remaining rounds.

There are a lot of able and enduring golfers who could easily knock out the favorite in the early rounds.

Jack Fleck, the new Open champion who was an unknown in previous PGA appearances, picked up some support when he shot a 69, over the par-35-36-71 Meadowbrook course in an exhibition Monday.

Mrs. Helen Wise Wins CCC Putting Contest

"Unlike ordinary razors, the Eversharp-Schick automatically locks itself at the one correct cutting angle. I get a close shave and my face really feels good."

SHAVE YOUR WHISKERS ...NOT YOUR FACE!

The secret of smooth, safe shaving is in the angle of the blade. The modern Eversharp-Schick locks the blade at the one correct angle... shaves scientifically close without scraping off tender face skin. Yes, shave your whiskers—not your face with an Eversharp-Schick Injector Razor! Try one and see.

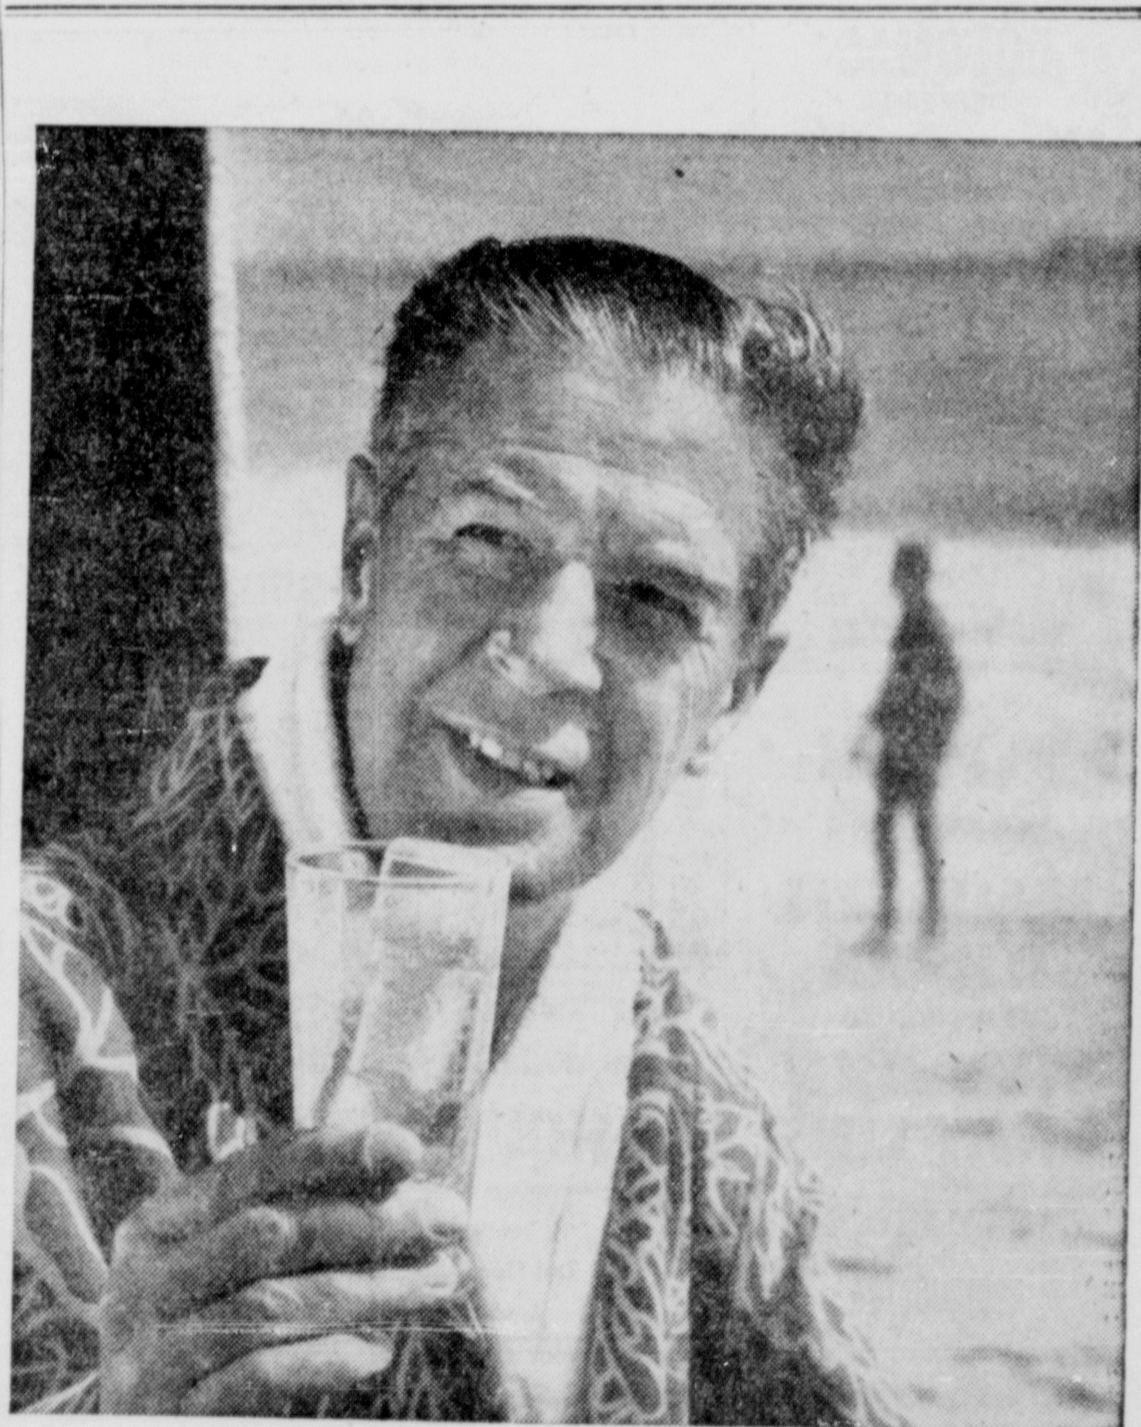

EVERSHARP-SCHICK INJECTOR RAZOR

for all-new, longer handle, non-slip grip Injector Razor... changes blades automatically... plus 12 scalpel-sharp blades and handy travel case.

Giants Eye Murff

John (Red) Murff, the sensational Dallas hurler—the first pitcher in organized ball to win 20 games this season—may be ticketed for the New York Giants next year—and then, again, he may not. It all depends on whether the Giants are willing to meet the market price for the young hurler.

IT'S DELICIOUS. 1½ oz dry Seagram's Golden Gin over plenty of ice... add tonic water and a slice of lemon or lime.

City Studies Financing Of Major Projects

Delay Is Urged By City Auditor

City officials are devoting considerable thought to upcoming projects which may necessitate the sale of bonds totaling about $2,000,000.

The subject became of immediate concern recently when the Corps of Army Engineers asked the City of Cumberland to proceed with the construction of the Market Street Bridge as a preliminary to the awarding of a contract for flood control work in Willis Creek.

Citing the fact that only about $270,000 remains in the Flood Control account and that the bonded debt is at the $9,423,000 mark, City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson said he would like to see the city hold up on other work until the $2,000,000 sewage treatment plant is on a paying basis.

The City of Cumberland, he said, would be in a much better position to undertake additional projects after the plant is placed on a paying basis.

Is Being Crowded

Mayor Roy W. Eves said yesterday he thought the flood work was "coming too fast" and that the proposal to proceed at once on the bridge amounts to "crowding us" due to other obligations.

Current plans of the Corps of Engineers call for advertising this fall for two of the three remaining contracts on the Willis Creek channel, plus the pumping station at the B & O Viaduct.

This would mean that the city would have to provide funds for easements and right of ways along the channel and build new bridges at Market and Baltimore streets during the term of the contract.

Expected More Time

City officials for some time have known it may take about $1,000,000 more to complete its obligations in the flood job, but had hoped major expenditures could be deferred until other major obligations were out of the way.

Gibson said yesterday the Flood Control fund now contains about $270,000—all that remains from the $2,500,000 provided by the city and county as the local share of the project.

There has been a heavy drain upon the fund in recent months as the city purchases land and easements needed in Ridgeley for flood walls and levees, plus final payments on the Valley Street Bridge which cost more than $240,000.

Preliminary plans for the Market Street Bridge over Willis Creek called for an expenditure of about $172,000.

Mayor Eves said the Council discussed the problem Monday with Robert L. Wadsworth, chief of the planning division of the Corps of Engineers in Washington.

Want Abutments In

He said Army Engineers want the contract for the bridge let so the abutments will be in place by the time channel work reaches Market Street.

Gibson said the city would get a refund of $46,000 from the government, since the bridge abutments would take the place of paving work on that much of the creek.

Mayor Eves said the city officials informed Wadsworth the city cannot float more bonds until plans to sell bonds under constitutional home rule have been sanctioned by the courts.

Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan said the city wants the full picture on the flood control project so it will know where it stands.

There was a discussion Monday on floating a comprehensive bond issue to cover all of the projects.

To be financed are the pipe line to the Pittsburgh Plate Glass plant, estimated at about $700,000; the city's $150,000 toward the $300,000 addition to the Memorial Hospital Nurses' Home; an estimated $1,000,000 to complete the flood control job; and nearly $100,000 to complete deferred items in a current contract for the rehabilitation of the Lake Gordon filtration plant.

Still more money will be needed if the city decides to motorize valves of the 12 old filter units to conform with the six new filters which were placed into service a year ago.

Means 20 Cents

Gibson said yesterday that the $2,400,000 bond issue sold in April brought the general obligations to the $5,828,000 mark, with $3,585,000 of water bonds outstanding, for a total of $9,423,000.

He estimated that debt service and retirement of the contemplated projects would mean about 20 cents on the tax rate.

Mayor Eves said yesterday that it now appears the city will have no trouble meeting the cost of pipe for the 18-inch pipe line to the North Branch plant.

He said the Arco Drainage and Pipe Company expects to complete delivery of the pipe by November 21 and that the city will have only 21 (Continued on Page 10, Col. 1)

Lions Welcome Guest

Mrs. Helen Tullis of Baltimore and her leader dog, Prince, are welcomed to Cumberland by two members of the Cumberland Lions Club. At the left is Dr. William R. Allen, club president, and at the right Ernest B. Treat. Mrs. Tullis was an overnight guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Treat. The picture was taken at the Cumberland Country Club where a number of Lions and their wives attended dinner in honor of the blind woman who runs her own television show in Baltimore. Mrs. Tullis will speak at the luncheon meeting of the Lions Club today.

Talented Blind Visitor Conducts Television Show

By ALBERT D. DARBY
News Staff Writer

A remarkable young woman who is enjoying a pleasant and purposeful life despite blindness arrived in Cumberland yesterday afternoon for a brief visit before appearing as guest speaker at the noon luncheon meeting today of the Cumberland Lions Club at Central YMCA.

She is Mrs. Helen Tullis, a native of New York City who has made

Baltimore her home since her husband was transferred there for Coast Guard duty nine years ago.

Mrs. Tullis has been conducting her own weekly television program over a Baltimore station for nearly three years. A constant companion on these shows each Friday is Prince, her Scotch Collie who has been with her since their graduation together from the Leader Dog School in Rochester, Mich., August 26, 1949.

Although she has never seen Prince she knows that his coloring makes him quite photogenic for television cameras. His hair is black over most of his body. He does have brown eyebrows and the lining of his ears is brown. To top it off he has a silvery gray collar.

On many of her TV programs she interviews well-adjusted handicapped persons like herself who look upon their misfortune as an inconvenience but not a handicap. Then on other programs she cooks some of her specialties, for cooking is her favorite "indoor sport." She especially likes to prepare foreign dishes.

The success of her program is measured by the fact that she won a McCall's award as an outstanding woman on television for 1953. She also is a member of the board of the American Women on Radio and Television.

The Baltimore woman, making her first visit to Cumberland, paid tribute to her leader dog for helping her get over a terrific inferiority complex. Before Prince came to her she lived a sheltered life, scarcely ever venturing away from her home, she recalled.

Prince's only difficulty has been in getting on subways in New York City.

"Prince was so polite he would always stand back and let everyone else get on the subway and we had some frightening experiences when the subway slammed shut before we could get aboard. Eventually Prince caught on how to act like a New Yorker so he rushed onto the subway before anyone else and put his head on a vacant seat until I could find it."

Mrs. Tullis confessed that she has a tendency to say left when she means right and vice versa. Soon Prince realized she didn't mean what she was saying and would stop and figure out the correct direction himself, she recalled.

Last week Mrs. Tullis was in New York City and was asked to model three hats at a millinery show. She and her dog walked across the 60-foot-long platform so expertly that some of the women in the audience told her afterwards that they did not realize she had no sight.

Although she was born blind, the remarkable visitor said yesterday that after some 25 operations she regained vision in her right eye at the age of nine. She took up painting and drawing and had visions of a career in those fields. She even won a scholarship at the age of 11 and was painting at the Metropolitan Museum of Art. Then, apparently because she had used her vision too much she lost her sight completely at the age of 14½ years.

Mrs. Tullis and Prince came to Cumberland on a Baltimore and Ohio train yesterday. She expressed regret that she had no human companion with her to tell her about the scenery along the way.

LaVale Baptist Runner-Up In Church Contest

N. J. Group Wins Top Rural Honors

WESTMINSTER, Md., July 19

—The Yellow Frame Presbyterian Church, in open country near Newton, N.J., tonight was named "Rural Church of the Year" in the six-state Middle Atlantic area.

Its 130 members compounded their accomplishment from the ashes of disaster. Their parish hall burned. They struggled and built a new one. They did most of the work with their own hands.

The Rev. C. Harold Brackbill, who started serving the church five years ago while a student pastor, came here to receive the prize at a presentation dinner tonight at Westminster Theological Seminary.

LaVale Is Runner-Up

Yellow Frame Presbyterian gets $600 cash award and another $300 for winning the New Jersey State competition.

The runners-up, all state winners were: LaVale Baptist Church at Cumberland, Md.

The Dushore - Overton - Elkland Evangelical and Reformed charge in northern Pennsylvania near Towanda.

First Baptist Church of Burlington Flats, N.Y.

Mt. Rupert Methodist Church near Buckhannon, W. Va.

The Yellow Frame congregation, which traces its history back to pre-revolution times, was cited for the way it has turned its new parish hall into a center for the community's social and civic activities.

LaVale Baptist Church at Cumberland won the Maryland-Delaware competition largely because it was the first congregation to manage a foothold in the suburb.

The members took over an old bowling alley and turned it into an adequate church building.

Rev. Frith Gets Prize

The Rev. C. F. Frith, pastor, collected the $300 state prize and another $200 because his church ranked second in the area contest.

Citations for "commendable progress" and $100 prizes went to St. Mary's Evangelical Lutheran Church at Silver Run, Md., Hancock Methodist Church, and Downsville Christian Church.

Awards of $50 each were made to Ebenezer Methodist Church at Mt. Airy, Hart's Methodist Church at North East, Hopewell, Methodist Church at Port Deposit, St. John's Methodist Church at Seaford, Del., and Broomes Island Pilgrim Holiness Church in Calvert County.

Lamont Playlot Gains Extra Area As Fence Goes Up

Lamont Street Playlot began getting a fence yesterday and in the process gained additional room for activities.

Mayor Roy W. Eves said residents of the area suggested that an adjoining area, thought to be an alley, be fenced in as part of the playlot.

He said investigation disclosed the area is actually a city-owned lot and not an alley.

Mayor Eves said this additional area can be fenced as part of the playlot, except for a 15-foot space which will be used to turn cars around.

The present playground area is 120 by 50 feet.

The work at Lamont Street is being done with proceeds of a $150,000 recreation bond issue.

Stickley Attends Psychology Seminar

Paul L. Stickley, 600 North Centre Street, is attending a two-week seminar in Rorschach's Psychodiagnostik at the University of Chicago.

Rorschach's Psychodiagnostik is the ink blot test which psychiatrists and psychologists use for information about personalities of those taking the test.

The seminar is being conducted by Dr. Samuel J. Beck, head of psychology laboratory, Department of Neuropsychiatry, Michael Reese Hospital, Chicago, Ill.

Family Picnic Today

Members of Emmanuel Methodist Church WSCS, their families and friends, are invited to attend the picnic supper in Grove 1, Constitution Park, tonight at 5:30 o'clock. The group will meet at the church. Following the supper a business session is to be held with Mrs. Florence Taylor presiding.

Sweetened Baits Used For Control Of Flies

Farmers of the area are reminded that sweetened baits provide a new and low cost method for the control of flies in dairy and livestock barns.

Joseph H. Steger, Allegany County agent, said the baits have been particularly effective where flies have become resistant to chlorinated hydrocarbon insecticides, such as DDT, Lindane and BHC.

Properly used, they have given excellent control in unscreened dairies, cattle barns, poultry houses and around garbage dumps. Sugar or molasses solutions, poisoned with certain phosphorus base organic insecticides such as Mala-thion, TEPP, Bayer compound L 13/59, and Diazinon give excellent fly kills, Steger added.

Most of these products will probably be available in special formulations for use both as liquid and dry baits. Steger cautions farmers to read all labels carefully for approved use.

In commenting on the control of the Japanese beetle, outside of barns, Steger said that for small tracts two tablespoons of 50 percent wettable DDT are recommended for each gallon of water. For barn or stable flies the ratio is about four tablespoons for each five gallons of water.

Kalah, Chinese Checkers Champs Will Be Named

Top Kalah and Chinese checkers players from North and South Divisions of the city's playgrounds will compete today at 2 p. m. for city championships.

Mrs. Eva Hogan, general playground supervisor, said the finals will be played on five North Division grounds.

Competing will be divisional champions named yesterday after semi-final competitions.

Winning the Kalah playoffs were: Pee-wee boys, James Bell, Gephart, Northern, and Eddie Stumbaugh, East Side, Southern division.

Junior boys, Lamar Martin, Centre Street, Northern, and James Payne, Pine Avenue, Southern.

Senior Boys, Richard Love, Gephart, Northern, and William Smith, Pine Avenue, Southern.

Pee-wee girls, Joyce Miller, Ridgevale, Northern, and Hazel Cline, Penn Avenue, southern.

Senior girls, Susanne Wilson, Gephart, Northern, and Carol Torbett, Penn Avenue, Southern.

Mrs. Hogan said Kalah, a new game here, has proved popular and that the Northern Division playoffs, held yesterday at Centre Street Playground, drew some 150 spectators.

Children from Gephart Playground won four of the six places in Kalah playoffs, and Pine Avenue and Penn Avenue tied with two each in the Southern Division.

In Chinese checkers playoffs, the following qualified for the finals: Boys, pee wee, Louis Meagher, Columbia Street, N. and Richard Peck, Pine Avenue, S.

Junior, Wayne Shook, Columbia Street, N. and Eddie Weaver, East Side, S.

Senior, Dion Shook, Centre Street, Northern Division, untested.

Girls, pee wee, Patricia Trozzo, Ridgevale, N. and Carol Griggs, Johnson Heights, S.

Farm Accident Is Fatal To Area Youth

An 11-year-old boy who resided on a farm south of Needmore, W. Va., died Monday morning as a result of injuries sustained when a tractor he was driving upset on him.

The victim was James Matthew Combs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Combs. The boy was reported to have been driving the tractor near his home on level ground when it ran up over a pile of posts and roll of wire and upset on him.

Kolmer Story Of Coolidge Is Disputed

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., July 19 —Vice Adm. Joel T. Boone, USN, Ret., White House physician in the Coolidge administration, sharply disputed today a colleague's statement that President Coolidge was "hysterical" at the death of his son, Calvin Jr., 16, in 1924.

To the contrary, both the President and Mrs. Coolidge "had their emotions under perfect control," Boone said.

Young Calvin scratched his toe while playing tennis and a blood and bone infection developed rapidly. The boy died a week later at Walter Reed Hospital, Washington.

Dr. John A. Kolmer, professor of medicine at Temple University Medical Center and a native of Lonaconing, Md., was one of the consulting physicians. He wrote recently in the Medical Center Bulletin:

"At about 10 p. m. (on July 7, 1924) I announced the boy was rapidly dying. The President sprang from his chair and took his dying son in his arms, shouting hysterically into his ears that he would soon join him in the Great Beyond and requesting that young Calvin so inform his grandmother (the mother of the President)."

It was with this assertion that Adm. Boone took issue today in a statement handed to a Lynn Daily Evening Item newsmen here, where he and Mrs. Boone are summing.

"At no time," said Boone, "did either the President or Mrs. Coolidge show any evidence of 'hysteria.' They were most cooperative with the physicians and brave and had their emotions under perfect control throughout their sorrowful vigil."

Boone said he spoke as a physician acquainted with "every detail" of young Calvin's illness. He said he was away only briefly during the five days and "at the time of Calvin's death I was standing at the head of his bed."

Mrs. Coolidge, at her Northampton home, had declined comment on the Kolmer version and was unavailable today.

Water Drainage Problem Aired At Westernport

Work Is Halted At School Site

Possible solutions to the water drainage problem which has resulted in Westernport at the site of the new Bruce High School were discussed yesterday afternoon during an on-the-scene meeting.

Work on the sewer line was halted last week when town officials charged the contractor, the George F. Hazelwood Company, with the violation of three town laws.

Attending the meeting yesterday were town officials, members of the Allegany County Board of Education and a representative of the contractor.

However no definite solution was reached, according to William J. Gunter Jr., attorney for the Board of Education, who said last night a meeting is being planned on Thursday with officials of St. Peter's Catholic Church. The parish cemetery is in the vicinity of where the new school is being built.

Hazelwood was charged last week with violating five sections of Town Ordinance 3, namely, tapping on a sewer line without a permit; destroying a catch basin and reducing the sewer pipe from 21 to 18 inches in diameter.

Town officials claimed that as a result of the grading of the school grounds, the natural water course was diverted. The contractor, the officials alleged, has destroyed a catch basin and is putting in a temporary sewer where a permanent one should be laid.

Present at yesterday's meeting were Mayor Okey Michael of Westernport; Harry M. Richards, water commissioner; Maurice Brundige, street commissioner; Kenneth Malcolm, president of the Board of Education; Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools; Gunter; William Douglas, president of the Hazelwood Company; William Riley, contractor supervisor; and S. Russ Minter, architect of the new school.

Four Area Boys To Get Hearing In Court Today

Four youths from Borden Shaft and Morantown will appear in Juvenile Court this morning at 10 o'clock in connection with two separate vandalism cases involving the Western Maryland Railway.

The boys, three 17 and one 16-year-old, were apprehended Monday evening in Frostburg by Sgt. John Kerr and Patrolman Carl Hetz of the Frostburg Police Department, and special agent H. W. Davis of the railway police force.

Following interrogation in Frostburg, the youths reportedly signed statements admitting their guilt and were held overnight in the detention room of the Allegany County Infirmary.

After further questioning in State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher's office yesterday, the youths were released in the custody of their parents to appear this morning in Juvenile Court.

The arrest climaxed more than a month of investigation by Westernport Maryland and Frostburg police, according to Lt. Bernard F. Beaky, special agent in charge of the railroad's Elkins Division, who said a constant 24-hour-a-day vigil was maintained at the scene of a breaking and entering of a boxcar at the Frostburg depot.

Beaky said St. Kerr and deputy sheriff Paul C. Haberlein, along with other officers, often spent 16 hours each day in the old C & P station. He also said the unveiling of the culprits in one case revealed the
